A variety of musical activities were welcomed by Dorothy Gingerich and Susan Koester.

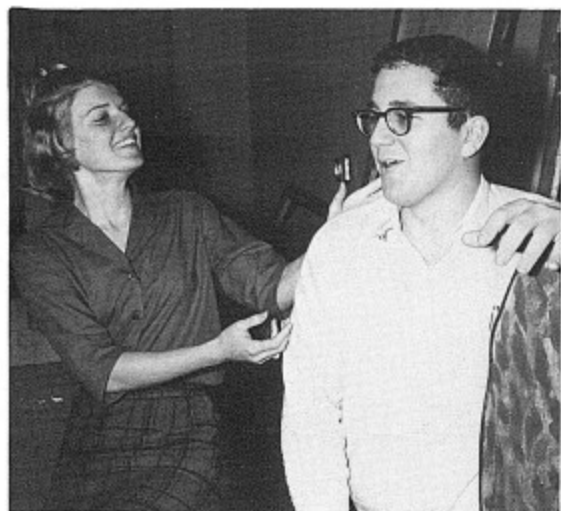

Precision and balance were the rules of baton twirling for Pam Sweeney and Diane Miner.

Work at the Satellite brought extra income to Chris Potter and Gary Ferguson.

SENIORS KEPT BUSY BY OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

Thespians Cynthia Garrison and Ross Greenleaf "hammed it up" on the stage.

Katy Mead, Linda Morgan, Bobbie Reed, and Jane Bump were still eating after an ample lunch at Scott's Annex.

WIDE SPREAD OF ACTIVITIES CARRIED

At a school dance Bill Galloway demonstrated a dance called the swim. Other dances popular during the year were the jerk and the frug.

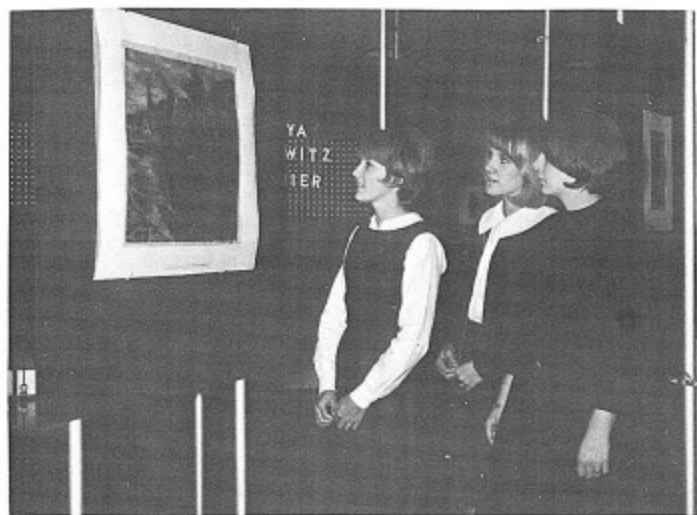

Sara Adair and Ann Stevens, students who were enrolled in college classes, paused for a moment in front of WIU's Memorial Library.

Phil Cross, Bill Galloway, Dennis Moon, Bob Vanderburg, Jim Manning, and Ben Jenkins were regular inhabitants of the lunch room.

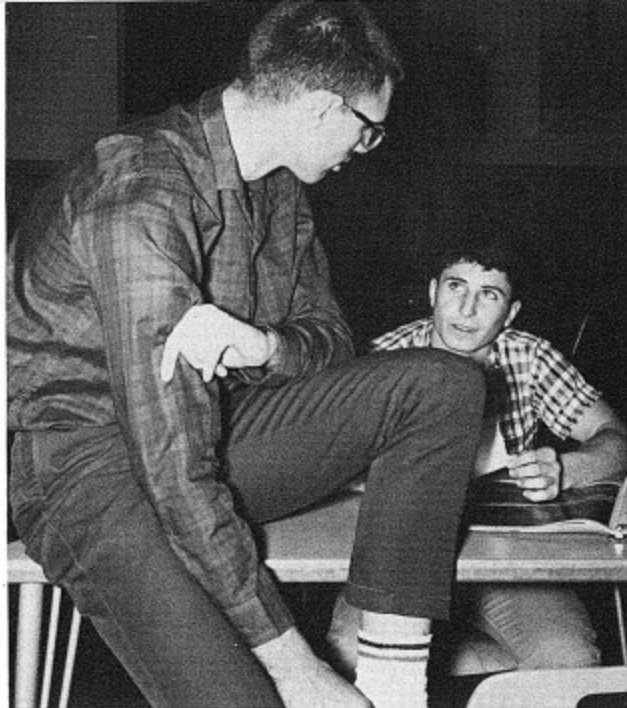

SENIORS OVER THE CAMPUS

Art students Carol Curtis, Vae Cunningham, and Carolyn Dufelmeier studied a painting at WIU's Art Gallery.

With the assistance of Sherry Wyne, Jo Willis attempted the feat of riding a unicycle.

Tom Graff and Mike Kraushaar spent a lot of time discussing math problems in the study hall.

A free lunch was the reward for Barbara Henderson and Marilyn Wallen for working in the lunchroom.

SENIORS STAYED CLOSE TO WHS AT NOON

After a relaxing noon hour Gary Bradford, Walter Derry, Roger Smith, Bill Adams, and Bob Root returned to school.

Jeff Hicken and Charles Schoeninger were "out of the reaches of" Aldon Daniels, Jerry Quintiliani, and Mike Barsi.

Gail Grigsby, Linda Covert, Melanie Dively, and Martha Roark walked to school together for twelve years.

SNOW AND SPRING JUNIOR CLASS

The arrival of spring and the annual junior-senior prom climaxed a year of hard work and planning for the juniors. Early in the winter quarter the class began preparation for the prom in May.

The juniors' first project this year was a back-to-school dance held on the evening of the opening day of school. As money-making projects, the class sold magazine subscriptions in the fall, sold yearbook covers, sponsored after-game dances, and took charge of concessions throughout the year. In planning for the future, the class took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and completed a study unit on colleges.

With the coming of Jo Burgess and the transferring of Dan Bounds, the enrollment of the class stayed at forty-three members. Class meetings were conducted by Mike Sallee, president; Ruth Krong, vice-president; Steve Larson, treasurer; and Sara Dobson, secretary, with the help from Advisers Miss Thompson and Mr. Alexander.

These sophomore girls, Debbie Nicholson, Kathy Riggins, and Paula Swain, concentrated on completing their homework in study hall.

With the long-range hopes of the senior class trip in mind, the Sophomore Class has worked long and hard. In addition to the usual concessions and dances, the class sponsored other money-making projects. One of the larger projects was the selling of candy. The sophomore class was well-represented in academic work, activities, music, and sports, with an unusual number of the class as members of the varsity squads.

During the homeroom periods the class meetings were conducted by President Allen Fritschel, assisted by Greg Carson, vice-president, Kathy Riggins, secretary, and Janice George, treasurer. Homeroom programs included guidance activities under the direction of Dr. Wiggins. Mr. Houck and Mrs. Stiffler served as sponsors.

Chairman Dick Shelton organized the sophomore candy sale with classmates Jim Whitehead, Gary Black, Diane Wier, Cynthia Snowden, and Janis George, under the supervision of Mr. Glen Houck. The net from the sale proved to be the most profitable money-making project for the class in a relatively short period of time.

The class of '68 was introduced to high school by the traditional freshman initiation. For a half-day freshmen boys and girls were dressed in outlandish outfits. The boys wore bonnets, skirts, and high heels, while the girls were dressed in blue jeans, old shirts, and boots. All freshmen were required to have candy and a pillow for their master.

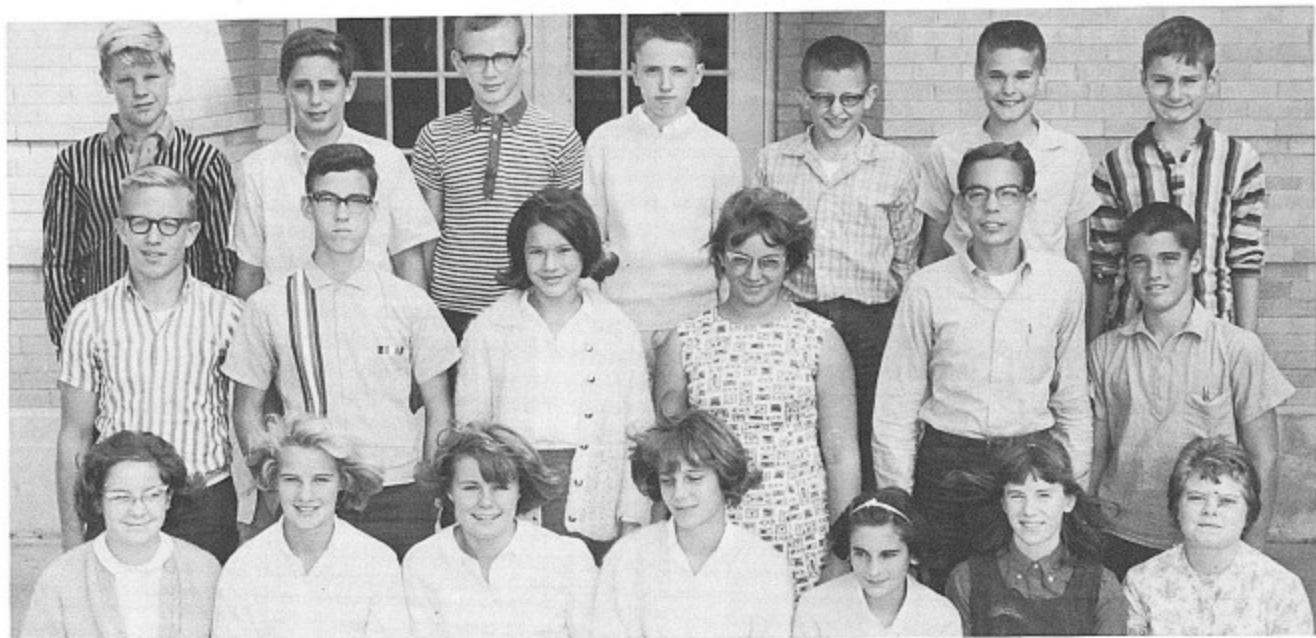

The freshmen launched successful money-making projects, the most money coming from dances and concessions.

Homeroom meetings were conducted by Jack Schoeninger, president; Jim Dufelmeier, vice-president; Margaret Covert, secretary; and Sam Churchill, treasurer. Homeroom time was spent in completing the Kuder Preference Test. Dr. Wiggins and Mr. Horrabin talked to the class about making the transition from eighth grade to high school. The freshman class, as other classes, filled out the Student Council Questionnaire, but was the only high school class to have 100% returned. The freshman class was under the guidance of Mr. Valett and Mrs. Reed.

Eighth grade officers Kathy Simpson, Kristi Sather, Adrienne Herbert, and Mike Watts laid plans for a homeroom meeting.

Eighth grade home room activities pointed to renewed emphasis on learning. Dr. Wiggins' talks focused on high school activities while other teachers presented the aims and objectives of their particular courses. Class President Adrienne Herbert was assisted by Mike Watts, vice-president, Kristi Sather, secretary, and Kathy Simpson, treasurer. Together they and their classmates laid the framework for the activities of the year which included concessions, dances, and the annual tour of the Lincoln shrines in Springfield. The class was sponsored by Mr. Brown and Mr. Kellogg.

STUDENTS LEARNED IN AND OUT OF SCHOOL

Dean Watson paused at the water fountain which served as an oasis for thirsty students.

Lois Krong, Lynne Johnson, and Judy Morgan cared for customer Marilyn Wallen at an eighth grade concession.

Animated members of Junior High and High School G.A.A. waited to catch a pass from Kathy Nicholson and Mary Gingerich in an after-school game.

Under the leadership of Steve Julstrom, president, Phil Davenport, vice-president, Natalie Powell, secretary, and Brian Abel, treasurer, thirty-nine seventh graders succeeded in sponsoring several traditional activities. Among these were concessions and the annual Christmas tea. The class also showed a sincere effort in conducting the annual clothing drive. In the spring the students made a tour of Hannibal under the direction of Mrs. Burgard, class sponsor.

Phil Davenport, Natalie Powell, Brian Abel, and Steve Julstrom, officers of the seventh grade, discovered that good leadership has many qualities.

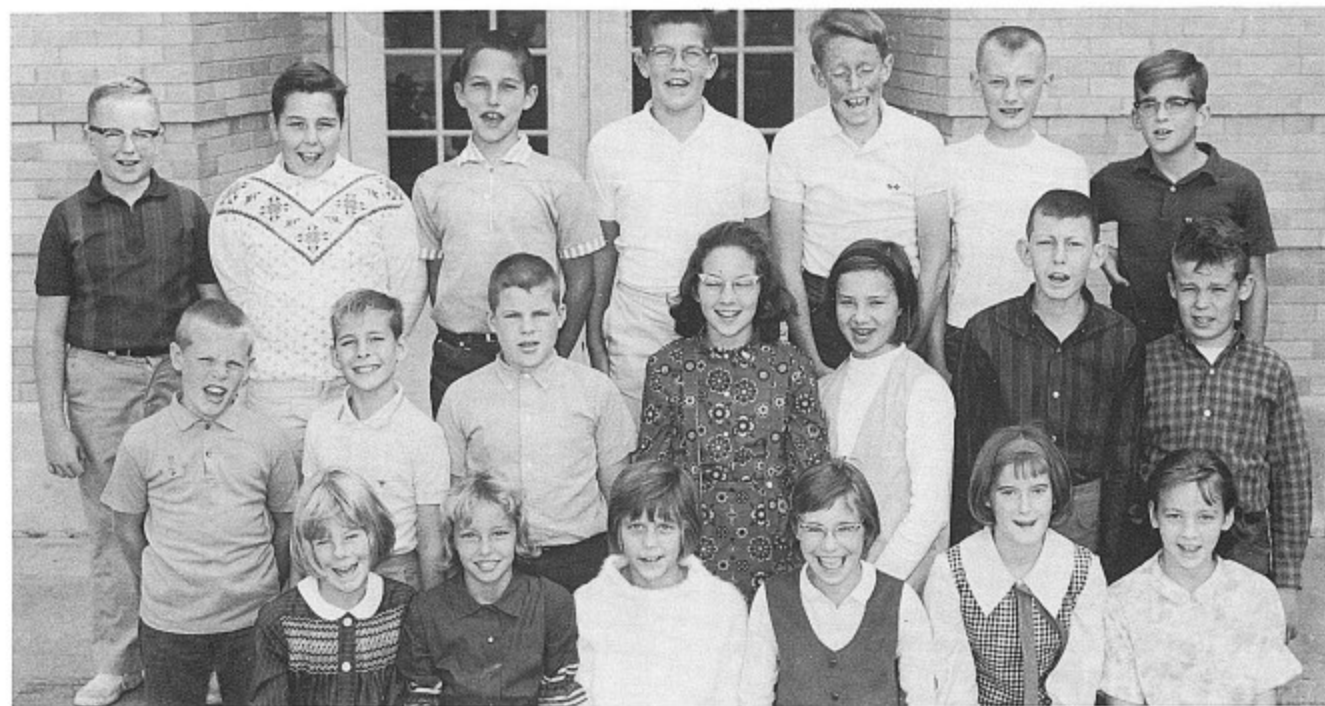

After school seventh graders rushed to get their coats as Steve Peterson and Steve Julstrom discussed an assignment.

STUDENTS PRACTICED DIVERSE SKILLS

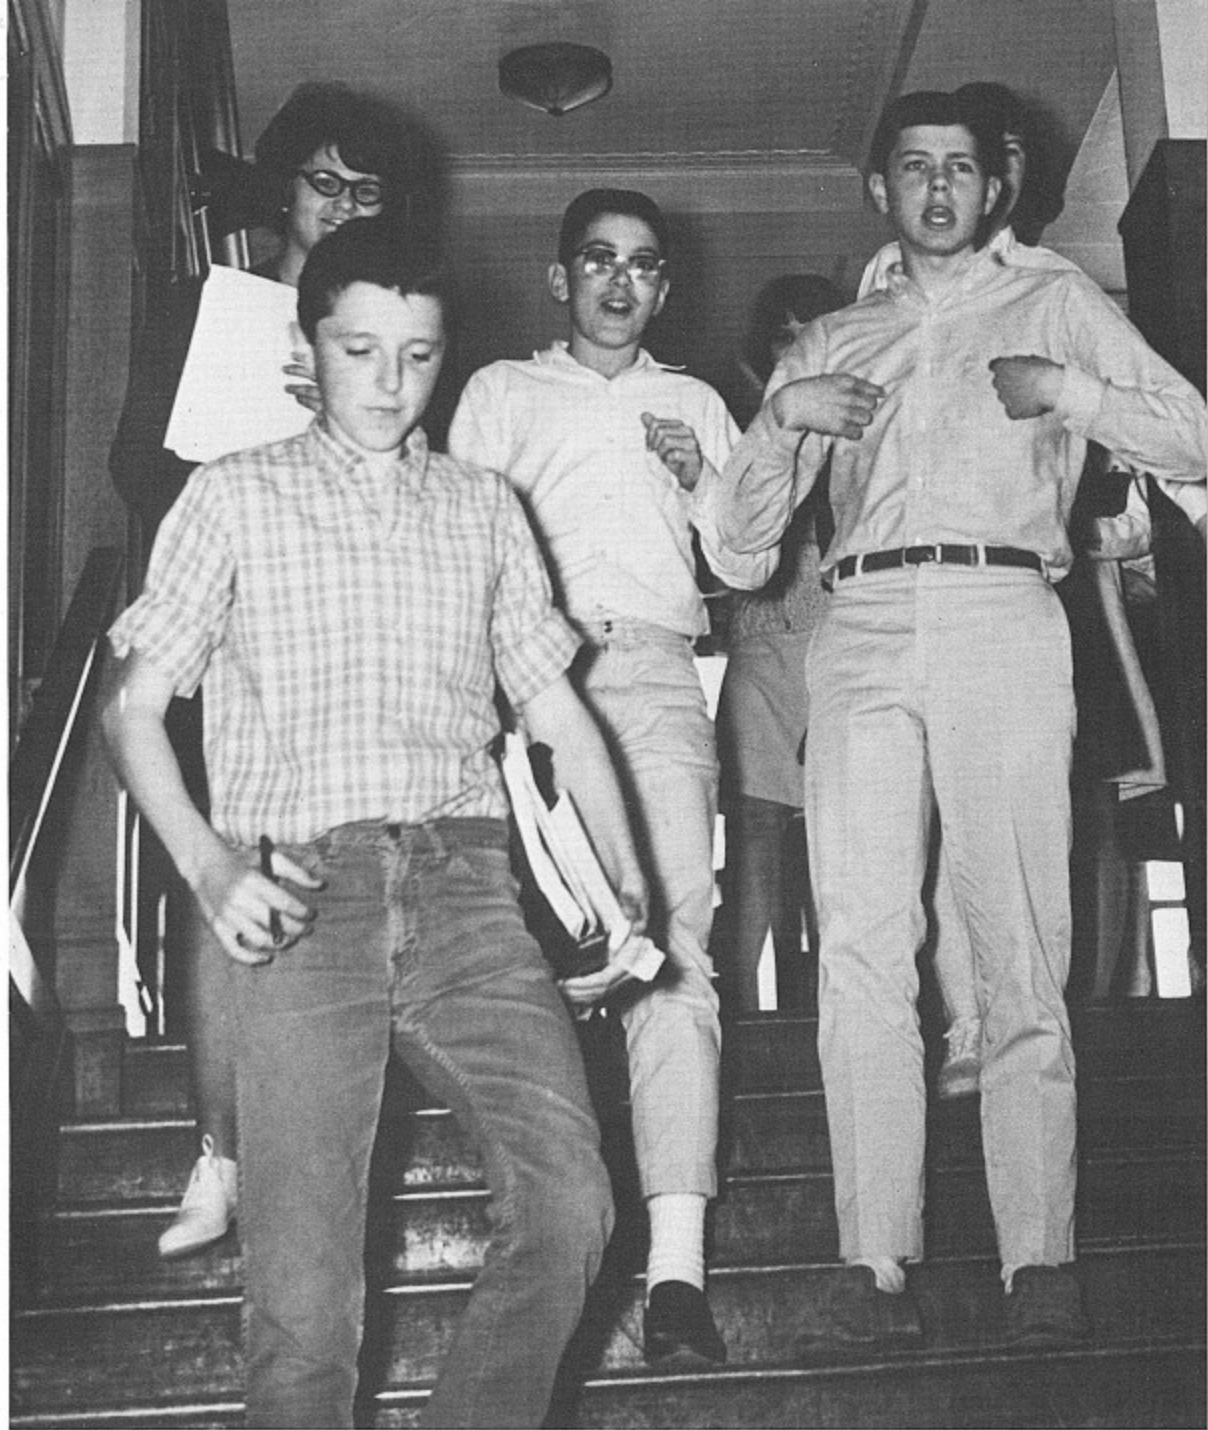

Mr. Swain offered suggestions to Jimmy Sallee and Bobby Walton on improving their art work.

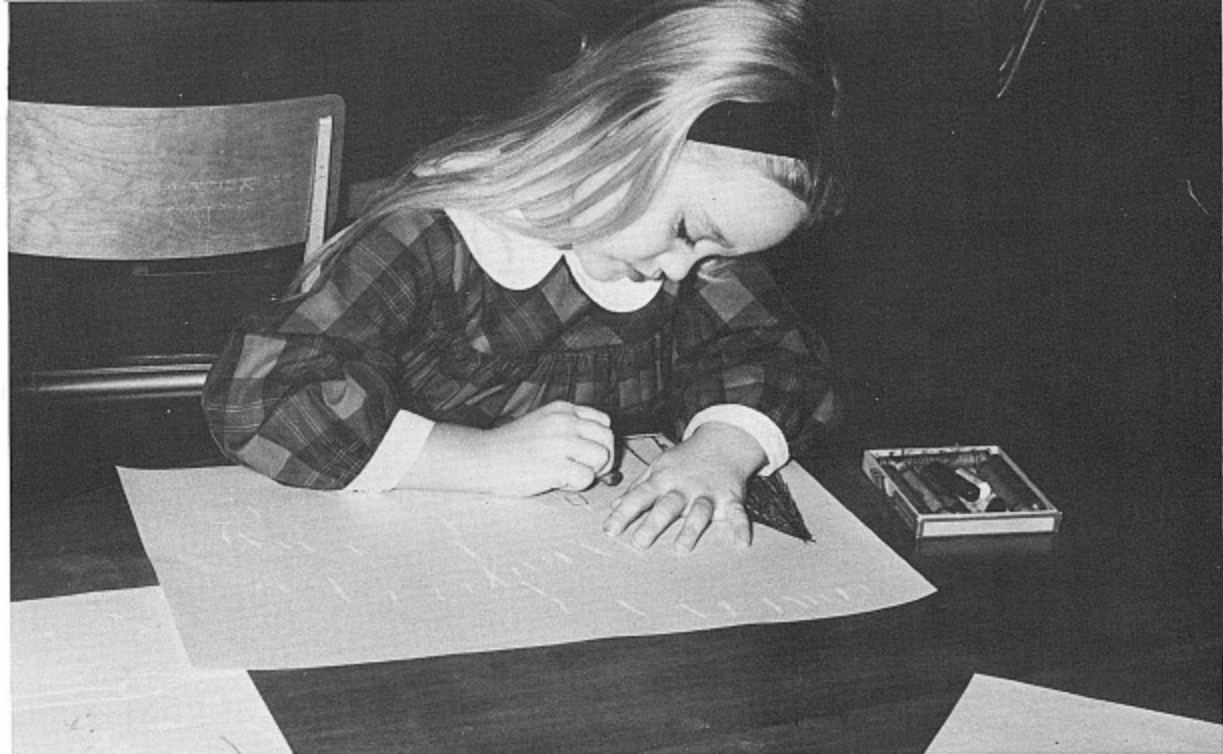

Hands waved in eager response.

A TEEN-AGER PREPARES HIMSELF BY ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT

Learning art skills will help Jackie Shanks become a better artist in the future.

GRADE SCHOOL CHILDREN WERE ACTIVE IN

Mr. Swain is still an expert at mixing paint for his students.

Rebecca Ann Crawford will be painting designs on clay pottery with the same intensity someday.

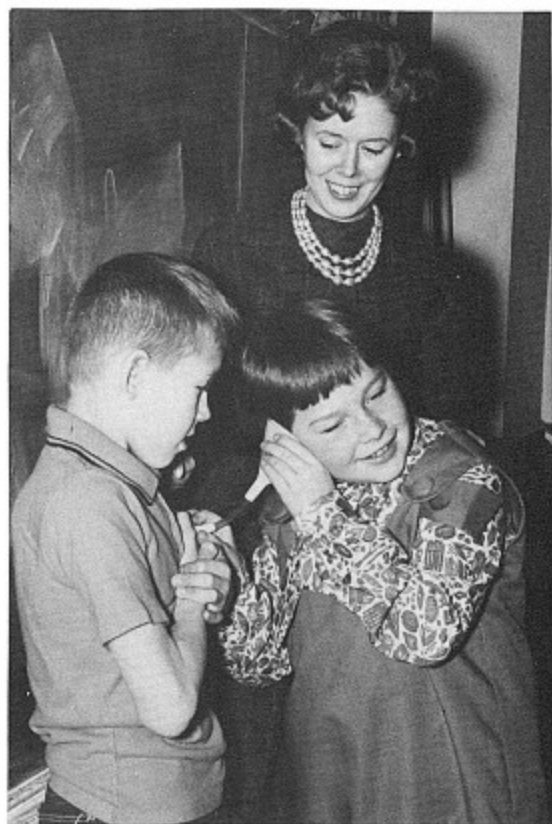

Rhythm is important in dancing, and Dr. Gould is providing it for these first graders.

MANY LEARNING EXPERIENCES

Van Pogue and Jan Morgan seemed to be pointing something out to Miss Flynn! Scott Johnson was giving his heart to science, and Debbie Swango was listening to him while Miss Bloomfield looked on.

Second graders enjoyed the stories Mrs. Gingrich told them.

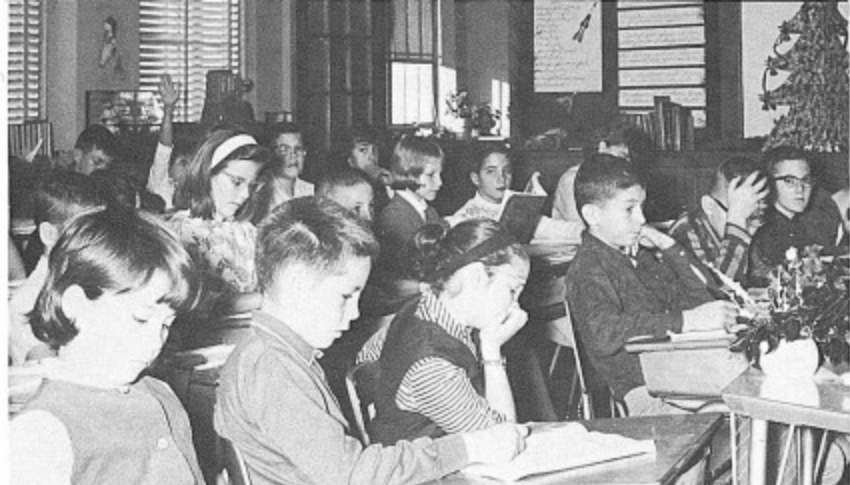

STUDENTS REACTED TO NEW INFORMATION

Miss Lewis complimented Julie Hohman on a well-written work book exercise.

Miss Reynolds looked on while her kindergarten students tested their mathematical abilities with flash-cards.

Christmas decorations added a festive spirit to the sixth grade.

Steve Jacobsen, Mary Kay Shoopman, Richard Wallen, Jeff McEntee and Doug Rimbey showed a lively interest in learning to read.

Mrs. Johnson showed her first grade students how to make Christmas cookies.

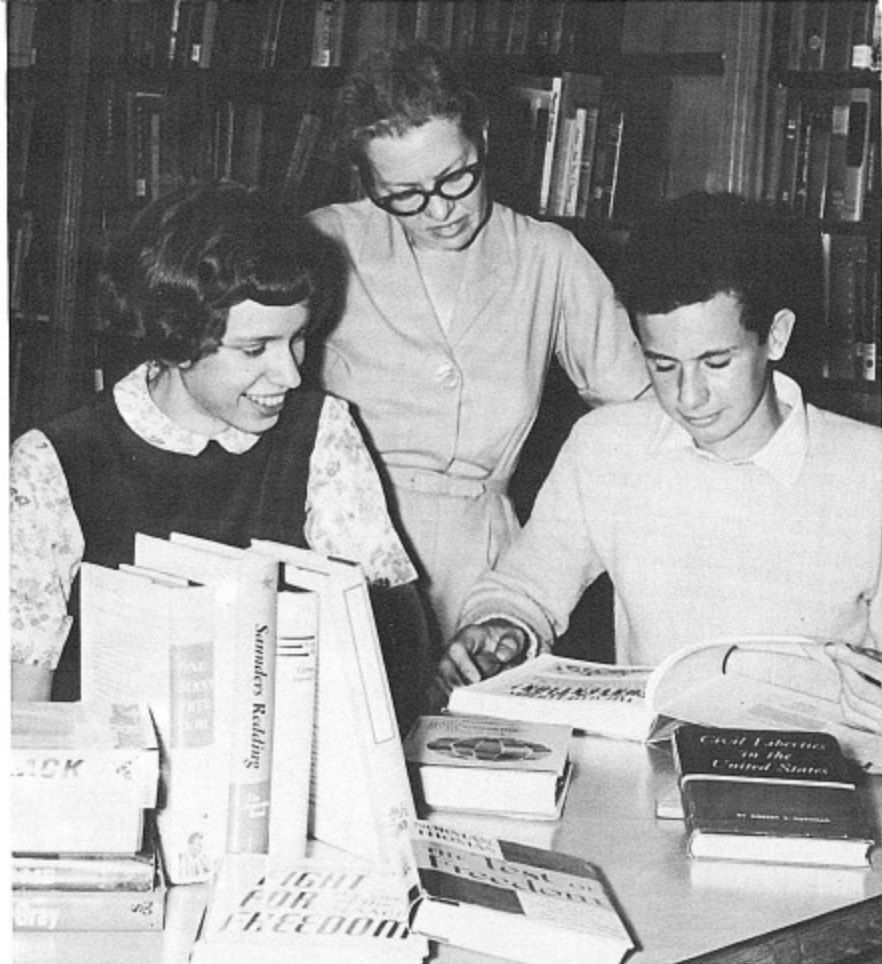

Sherry Wyne gained experience at the sewing machine for future reference.

SKILL AND DETERMINATION

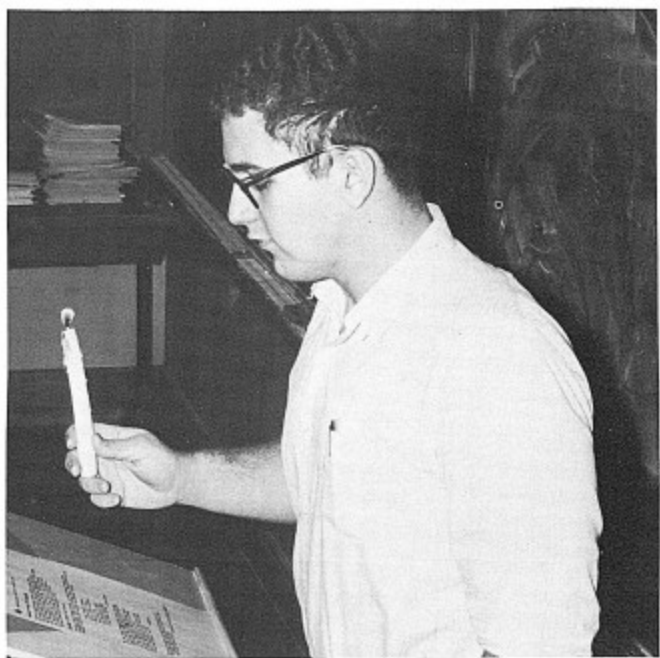

Connie Davenport and the other American history students were assigned to keep scrapbooks this year.

Miss Mills, Susan Koester, and Tom Roark looked over just a few of the many new books provided by the library this year.

PROMPTED SUCCESS

Ross Greenleaf demonstrated his skill in speech by not blowing out the candle while speaking.

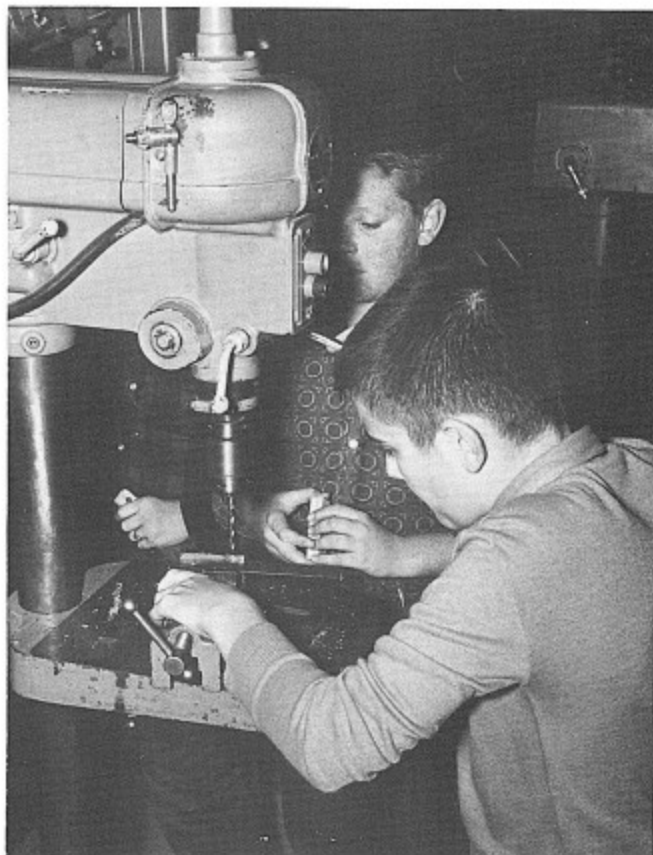

Students practiced developing their artistic skills.

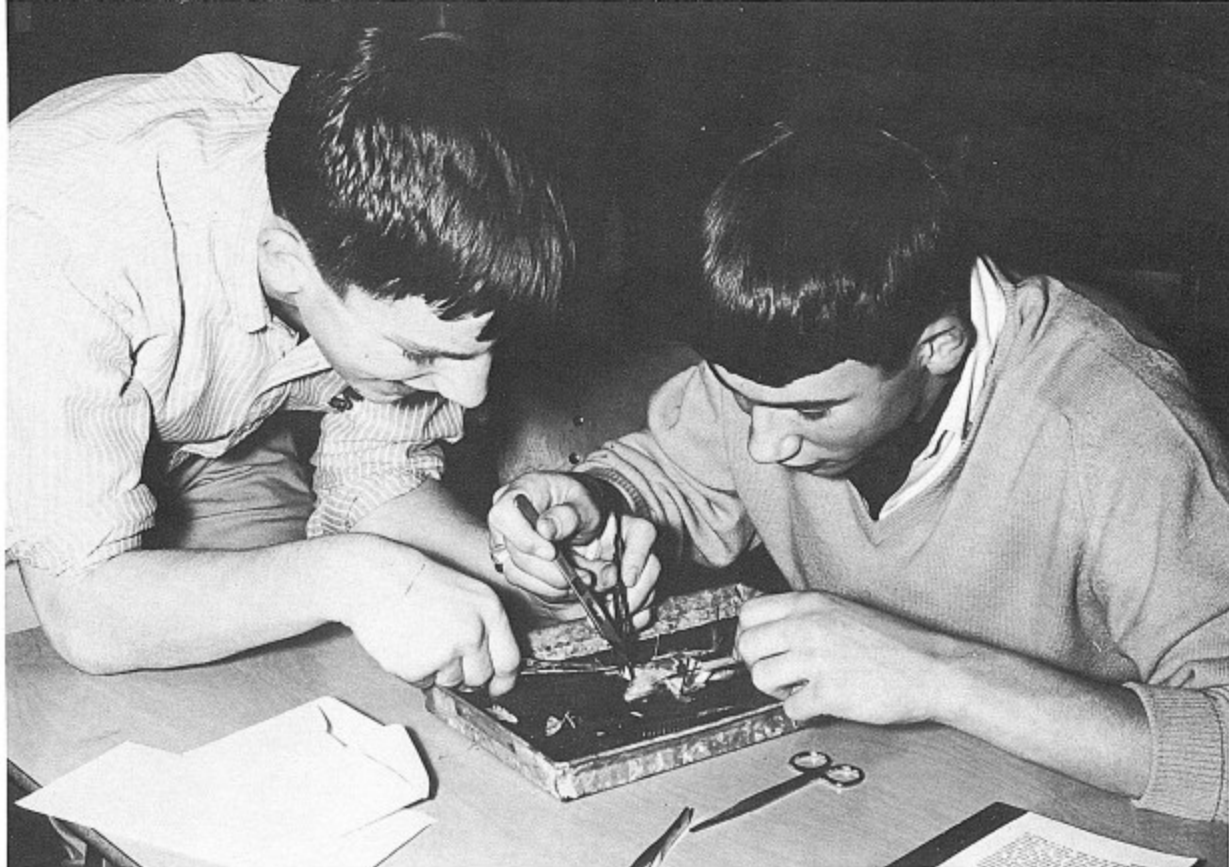

KNOWLEDGE WAS ACTIVELY APPLIED

Student librarian John Bolton searched through the files for a newspaper.

Industrial arts class helped Steve Peterson and Tom Zimmerman develop their skills for the future.

John Bolton and John Potter obviously enjoyed dissecting a frog for biology.

Carleton Conn frantically reviewed her American Government lesson for an impending exam.

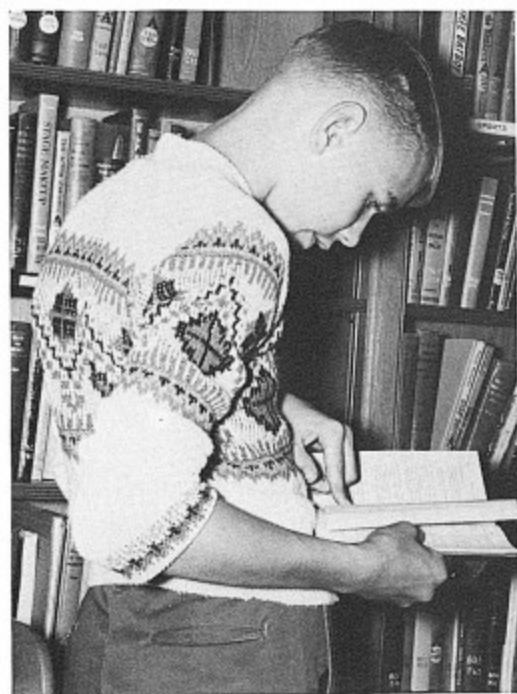

Miss Mills, Mike Cortes, and Kelly Grindstaff welcomed Mr. Stanley Bryant to a discussion of Martin Luther King's Why We Can't Wait.

Early morning exercise on the tennis courts sparked senior girls to life during the fall term.

LEARNING WAS ACCOMPLISHED

Extensive library resources encouraged students, like Sophomore Pat Ritter, to pursue individual interests.

Industrial Arts Supervisor Mr. Robert Keyes introduced Steve Julstrom, Dan Shoopman, and Craig Swan to rudimentary wood-working techniques.

Via language tapes, students learned to speak Spanish correctly.

BY DIFFERENT MEANS

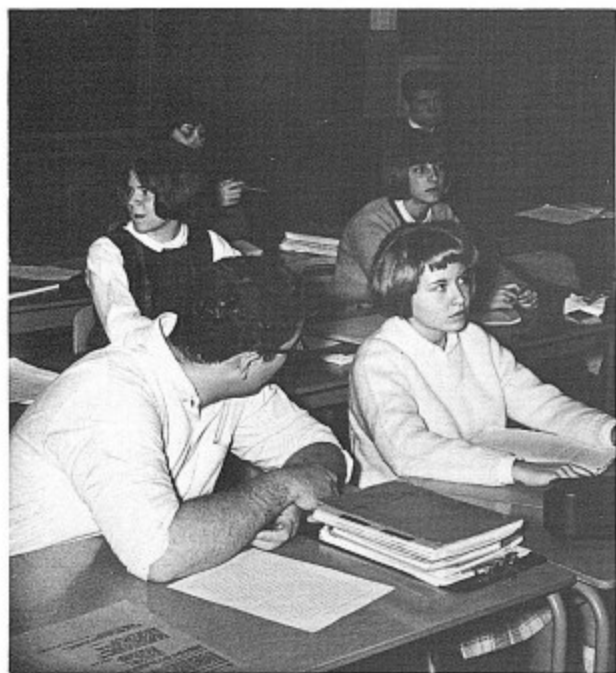

Miss Flynn watched as Barb Bunch, David Swain, Steve Meredith, Cynthia Garrison, and Eldena Snowden folded the American flag properly each day.

Mrs. Burgard helped seventh graders Vicki Welty, Tom Stipanowich, and Tom Zimmerman with the annual clothing drive.

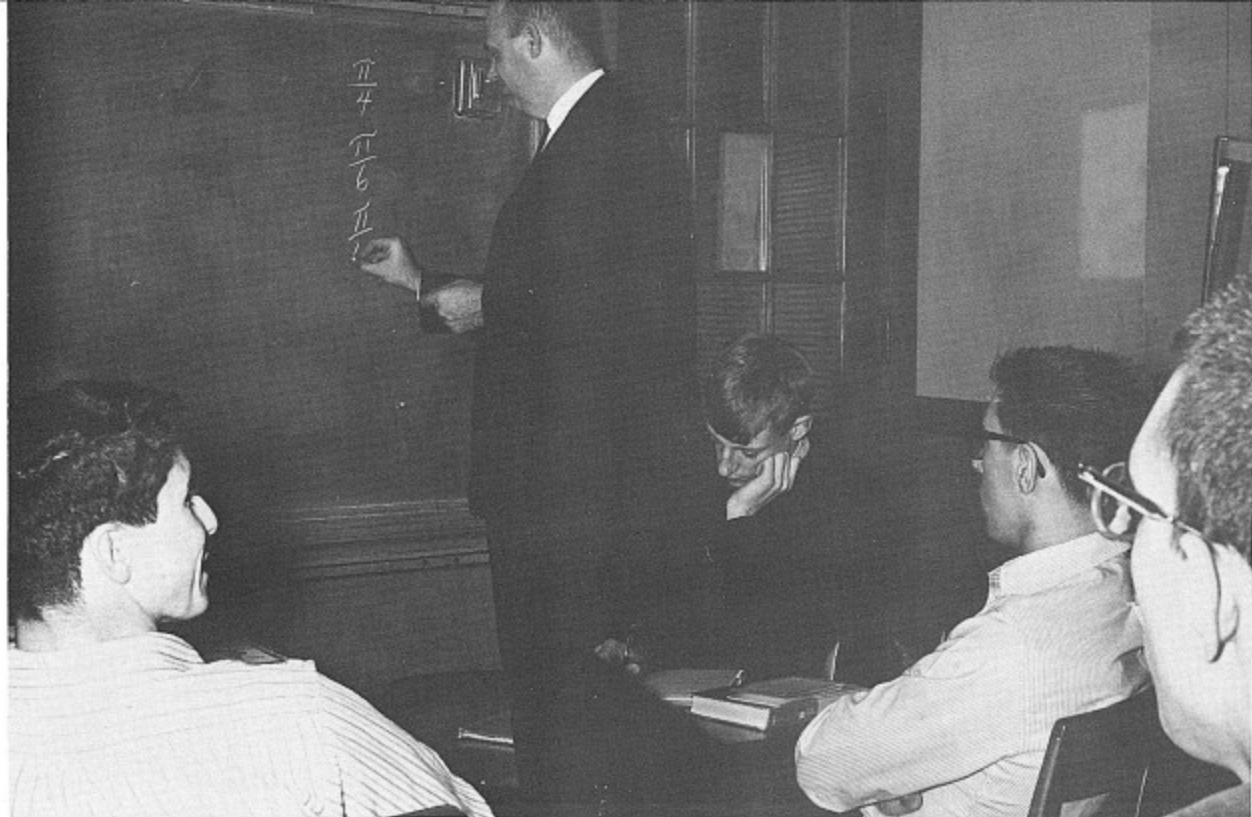

STUDY ASSUMED MANY FORMS

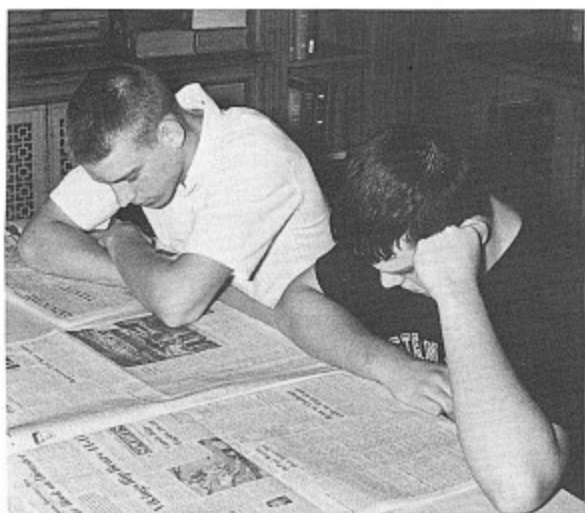

Varying reactions were displayed in speech class.

Tom Eggers,
section of the

Mr. Harding illustrated some principles of higher mathematics to students Mike Kraushaar, Aldon Daniels, Gary Bradford, and Tom Graff.

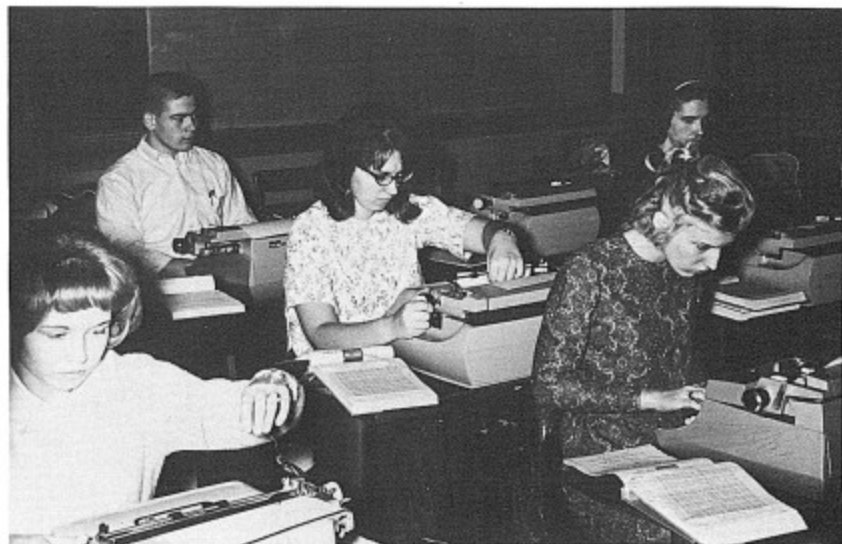

Greg Carson and Mike Speer poured over the sports newspaper.

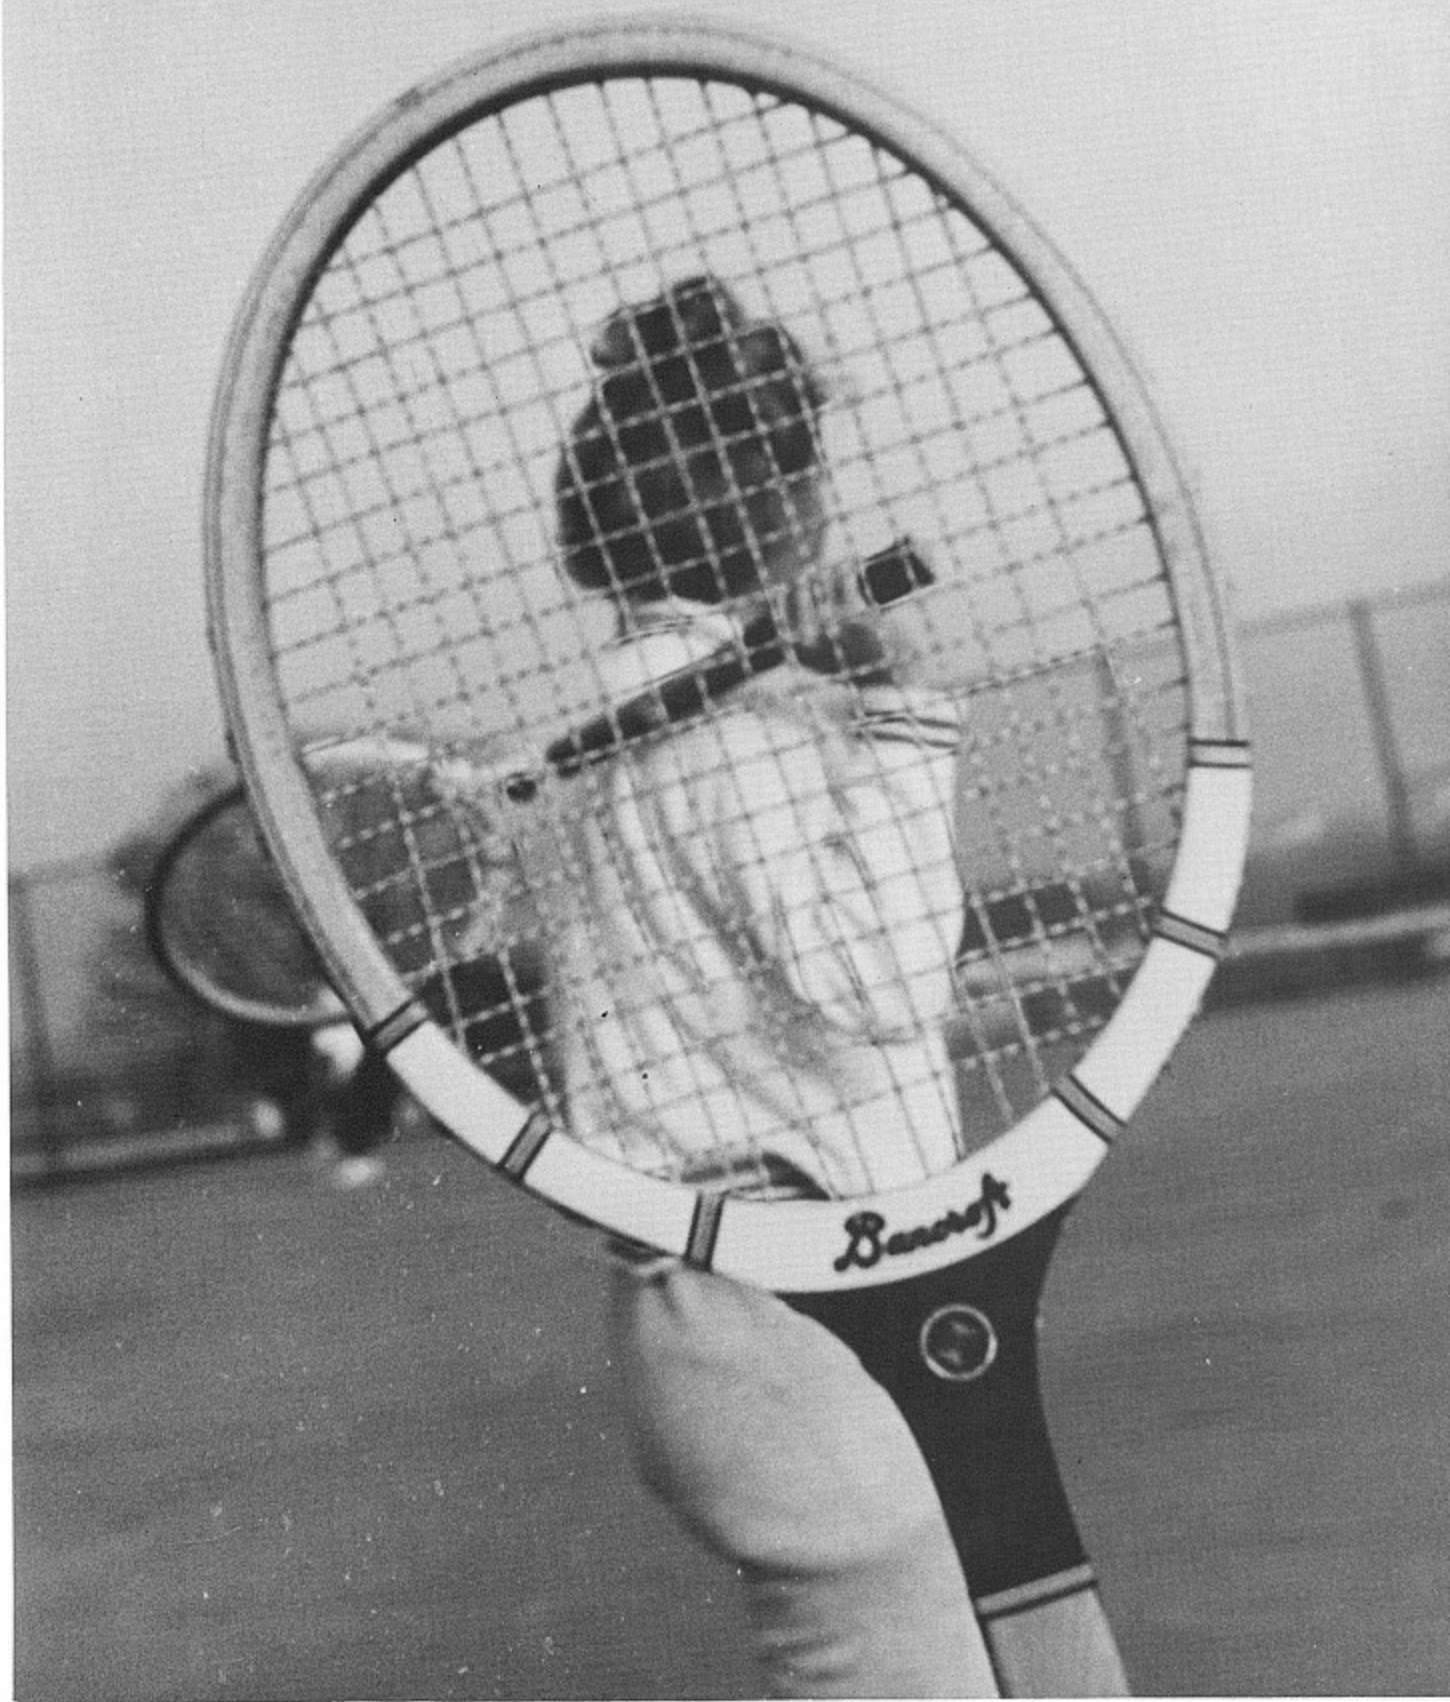

In chemistry lab, Steve Larson and Cheryl Bain puzzled over which chemical to use in their experiment.

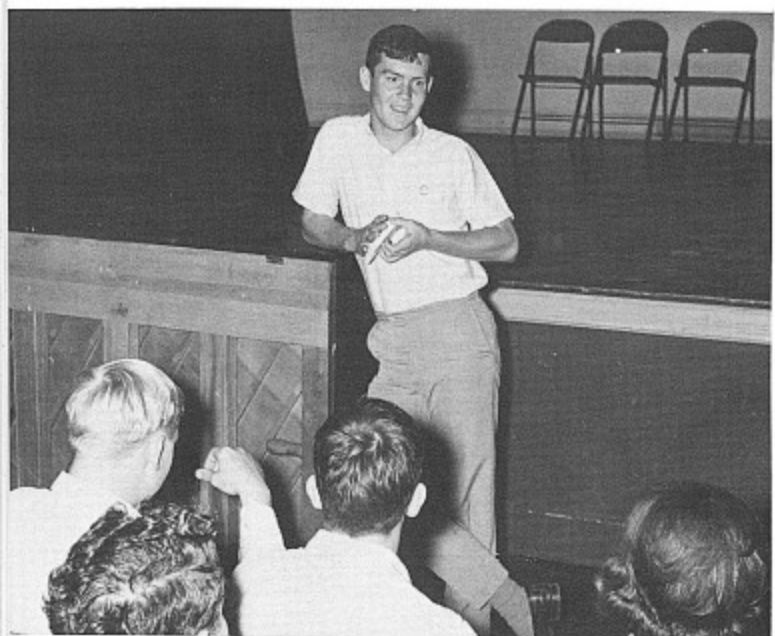

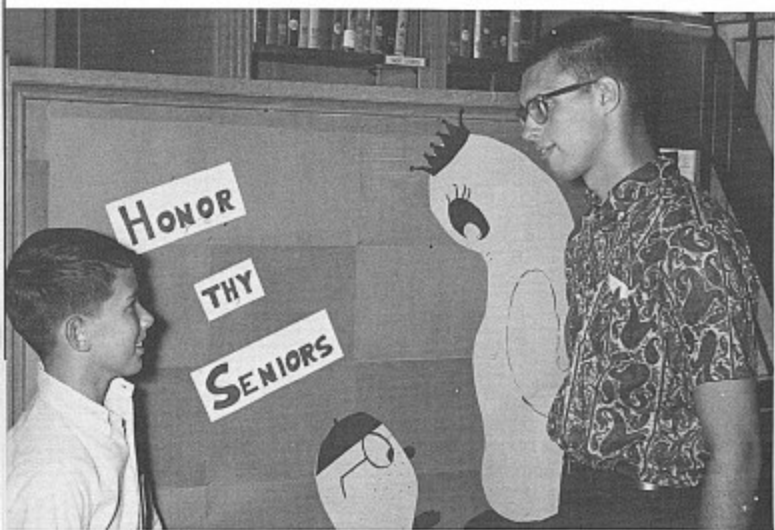

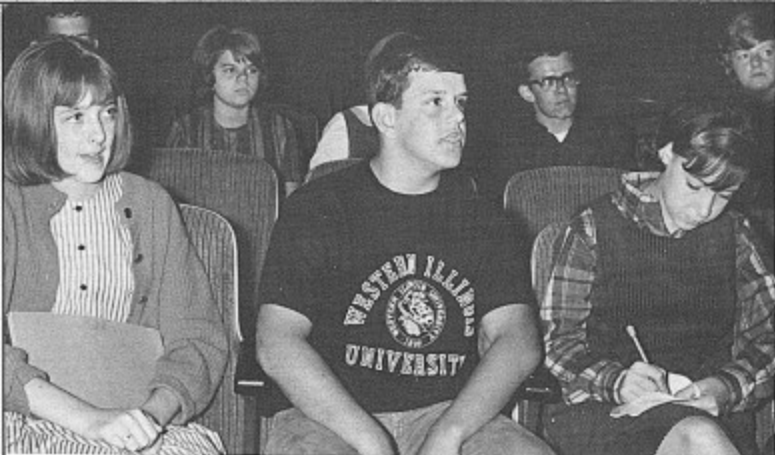

CLASSES POSED VARIOUS CHALLENGES

Jane Ashenhurst, Jerry Quintiliani, Susan Burrell, Cynthia Garrison, and Virginia Sutton strove for both accuracy and speed in their typing.

Cynthia Garrison got set to swing her racket for a point.

Mr. Sockler gave the student body a rousing speech during the homecoming assembly.

Queen Candy Strong and King Joe McLaughlin of 1963 yielded their crowns to the new royalty amid a setting of romance and fantasy. The magic hour was eleven on the evening of October 17 at the homecoming dance which climaxed the celebration for 1964. A painted castle was accented by highbacked thrones, the focal point of "Sherwood Forest."

Homecoming activities began on October 16 with an assembly. The words of Lynn Doolen, Mr. Horrabin, Dr. Harry Fritz, Dr. Richard Gibb, Mr. James Grigsby, Mr. Hohman, and Mr. Sockler aroused the spirit of the student body. Mr. Ken Chandler, homecoming king of 1954, introduced the "finest coach you or I or anyone ever put on a uniform for, Mr. Harry Sockler." Mr. Chandler represented the honored Class of 1954.

Toys of all descriptions, dolls, guns, and games were piled high under the tree at the Christmas party. A toy was given as admission to the dance which was sponsored by the Student Council to help less fortunate children of the area. All of the presents were given to the Salvation Army which in turn distributed them on Christmas Eve.

Records were played and a refreshment table awaited the dancers. During the dance Santa Claus came to wish everyone a Merry Christmas.

Santa Claus (Mr. Horrabin) reigned over the evening festivities.

Visiting the Art Institute in Chicago climaxed the Art Club's year. The Chicago trip was taken jointly with the Biology Club. The Art Club has been in existence for three years, its purpose being to bring together students interested in art to create and discuss art with other students. The Art Club took several field trips to paint and sketch. The club displayed many works in halls and rooms of Western High. Serving as officers for the Art Club were Vae Cunningham, president and Carolyn Dufelmeier, secretary-treasurer. Members of the Art Club were Jo Willis, Gail Grigsby, Ann Stevens, Kathleen Peterson, Bill Adams, Bob Root, Mary Chatterton, Pam Carson, Aline Keithley, Patty Nixa, Cynthia Snowden, Lynne Losasso, Sandy Richardson, Pam Ricci, Connie Davenport, Terry Morris, Dick Schoeninger, Tommy Eggers, Mary Potter, and Ruth Ann Greenleaf. The adviser of the Art Club was Mr. Scharfenberg.

Climaxing the activities of the Biology Club for the year was the trip taken jointly with the Art Club to Chicago in March. The group visited various museums of biological interest. The Biology Club sponsored an assembly program featuring Mr. David Goeke speaking on wildlife preserves. Club members participated in the Illinois Junior Academy of Science.

The Biology Club has been traditional at Western High School for more than 20 years. It encourages good scholarship and promotes interest in biology. First-hand experiences in biology come through project work and field trips. The club is also interested in all-school programs as evidenced by the sponsorship of an assembly and all-school party, the Bio-Blast. Sponsored by Mr. Kellogg, the Biology Club was led by Mike Cortes, president; Jane Bump, vice-president; Jo Burgess, secretary; and Steve Larson, treasurer.

Campus school students welcomed the frequent classroom appearances of visiting international lecturer James D. Liakos and his wife Avra during the winter quarter.

Western High School Assembly Committee has been given the responsibility of selecting and scheduling appropriate programs for the school year. The committee met on the last Thursday of every month and welcomed the appearance of anyone who wished to suggest a worthwhile program. International lecturers on the University campus became an important part of the assembly committee responsibility. The "coffee-hot chocolate hour" was planned for the faculty and committee members after each international lecturer spoke.

Programs this year included talks by Miss Venpen Narakol, Mr. Sidney J. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. James Liakos, Mr. Ede Pfeiffer, Mr. David Goeke, and Miss Maria David. Student members of the assembly committee were Cynthia Garrison, Ross Greenleaf, Barbara Jones, Steve Larson, Mary Gingerich, Pat Ritter, Sue Ann Wilde, and Bob Wyne. Faculty members were Miss Buckley, Miss Mills, Mr. Dornquast, and Mr. Paulding.

Boy's Union is an organization of all of the boys at Western High. From time to time the members of Boy's Union listened to guest speakers. The purpose of the Boy's Union is to get the boys together and promote spirit among them. A new athletic code was drawn up by the Boy's Union. The sponsor of the group was Mr. Sockler.

The Boy's Union this year was led by Bill Galloway, president, Mike Barsi, vice-president, and Jim Manning, secretary.

ALL-STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS GAVE UNITY

Girl's League, under the sponsorship of Miss Allen, engaged in many worthwhile activities this year. President Melanie Dively chaired the meetings assisted by Sara Adair, vice-president of the organization. Secretary and Treasurer were Dorothy Gingerich and Muriel Knoblauch, respectively. Members of the cabinet for the freshman class were Mary Beth Nixa and Sue Ann Wilde; sophomores, Mary Gingerich and Janel Harris; juniors, Susan Burrell and Ellen Garrison; seniors, Linda Covert and Jane Bump.

The purpose of the organization is to bring the girls together to discuss the role of the high school girl and her future in society. Visiting international lecturers on the Western Illinois University campus provided interesting information about women of other countries. The highlight of the year was the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet held in the spring.

Girl's League officers were Muriel Knoblauch, treasurer, Melanie Dively, president, Dorothy Gingerich, secretary, and Sara Adair, vice-president. Miss Allen served as advisor. Cabinet members this year were Linda Covert, Jane Bump, Ellen Garrison, Susan Burrell, Mary Gingerich, Janel Harris, Sue Ann Wilde, and Mary Beth Nixa.

McDonough District Hospital Candy Striper Gail Grigsby picked up a gift plant as she began her rounds.

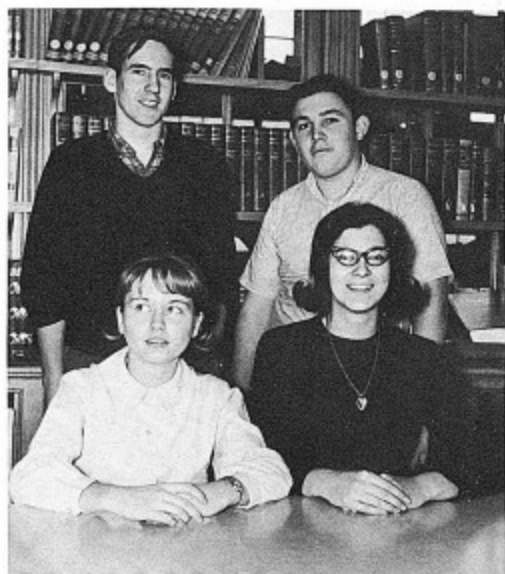

This year six girls from Western High volunteered as Candy Stripers at the McDonough District Hospital. Among the duties performed by the girls once a month were delivering flowers, working in the coffeeshop and gift shop, feeding patients, distributing mail, and cleaning equipment in the laboratory. As another part of their service, the girls made packets of children's games.

Varsity debaters Jane Ashenhurst, Sara Dobson, David Stiffler, and Mike Cortes romped to a second place victory at the sectional contest.

Mike Cortes practiced speaking while David Stiffler worked on reference material.

This year the affirmative debaters, Sara Dobson, and Jane Ashenhurst, upheld that nuclear weapons should be controlled by an international organization, while negative debaters, Dave Stiffler, Mike Cortes, Ed Chapman, and Randy Stiffler objected to the proposition. The team participated in tournaments at Illinois State University, Bradley University, and Augustana College. At the Lincoln Debate Tournament the team tied with Springfield High School for second place. This tie allowed the team to advance to the state finals at Illinois State University. Mr. Dornquast, assisted by Mr. Rudy Jagielski, Mr. Tom Whalen, and Mr. Charles Gebhardt, coached the debate team.

DEBATERS AIMED FOR A WINNING SEASON

Debate members are Jack Schoeninger, Randy Stiffler, Tom Roark, Ed Chapman, Dick Shelton, Jane Ashenhurst, Sara Dobson, Mike Cortes.

Staff members Sheryl Crane, Sara Dobson, Katy Mead rechecked finished pages.

Lynn Doolen and Muriel Knoblauch, co-editors, began working on the 1965 Epilogue late in August 1964 when the Juniors and Seniors were photographed. Mr. Claude Tarleton took these pictures and all other portraits in the book. George Chadderdon, Western Illinois University student, photographed and developed the candid and group pictures with the help of Mr. Don Crawford of the Audio-Visual Department of the University. Katy Mead began assigning copy to members of her staff when the picture-taking was launched. The copy was printed by Mrs. Connie McLaughlin and Mr. Charles Meline of the University Print Shop. Mr. E. A. Anderson represented the Intercollegiate Press, Inc., printer of the yearbook.

As completed copy and pictures came in, editors began work on their sections of the book. Martha Roark planned the layout of the grade school pages. Sara Dobson focused more on candid shots of the students in the classes section. Choosing the best action shots for the sports section was the job of Jeff Carson. Gail Grigsby combined action and group pictures of members or organizations. Sheryl Crane took a poll of the faculty's interests for administration and faculty pages. Dick Shelton concentrated on Aiding the editors of the various sections of the book were Jane Ashenhurst, Don Cay, Carleton Conn, Mike Cortes, Margaret Covert, Linda Crouse, Jan Deane, Janice George, Mary Gingerich, Sally Hammond, Jeff Hicken, Ree Huston, Barbara Jones, Aline Keithley, John Knowles, Steve Knowles, Steve Larson, Janet Lee, Lynn Losasso, Jane Miller, Linda Miner, Kathy Morgan, Terry Morris, Ruth Ann Nell, Debby Nicholson, Eileen Nielsen, Patty Nixa, Kathleen Peterson, Sandy Richardson, Kathy Riggins, Tom Roark, Paula Swain, Dianne Wier.

In the fall of the year, the staff received many valuable ideas at the Illinois State Press Association Convention held at the University of Illinois. Attending the convention were Lynn Doolen, Muriel Knoblauch, Sheryl Crane, Sara Dobson, Katy Mead, Steve Larson, and Dick Shelton. The group was accompanied by Mrs. Stiffler, the Epilogue advisor.

Adopting a woman from the Everly House and a ward at the Galesburg Hospital were important projects for the Future Homemakers of America, a branch of the National FHA. The girls corresponded with these people on special occasions and gave them presents.

Mrs. Billie Ellsworth showed slides and spoke to the FHA of her experiences as a Peace Corps Volunteer in Ecuador. The girls had an unusual and successful bake sale. Each girl took orders for various pastries, and these orders were filled by members working as a group after school.

FHA met twice a month under the leadership of Marsha Wallen, president; Ree Huston, vice-president; Sandy Richardson, secretary; Aline Keithley, treasurer; Marilyn Wallen, vice-president of projects, Sheila Wilde, vice-president of recreation; Lynn Losasso, vice-president of public relations; Linda Miner, historian; Cynthia Ambrosius, second vice-president, and Sue Burrell, vice-president of degrees. Officers attended an officer's training meeting in the fall. A spring rally was held for members including Barbara Henderson, Susan Koester, Cathy Carnahan, Sue Ann Wilde, Martha Grindstaff, Pam Kimler, Jackie Waggoner, and Cathy Lamer. The adviser for FHA was Miss Thompson.

Latin had a profound effect on the well-being of many Western High students.

Mrs. Adair sponsored the Latin Club whose president was Patty Nixa who worked with John Potter, vice-president, and Jane Ashenhurst, secretary-treasurer. The meetings of the club were held on the first Monday of the month during the class period. The purpose of the Latin Club was to include the study of subjects related to Latin which the students did not have time for in regular class periods, such as customs and life of the Romans, founding of Rome, mythology, celebrations such as Saturnalia (our Christmas time), and games. Besides studying the Romans past and present, the club also enjoyed a joint dinner with Colchester and Macomb High Latin Clubs, held regularly once each year.

The Student Library Assistants are a group of high school students who help Miss Mills perform the routines necessary to running a library, such as checking in and shelving books, writing out and distributing the ubiquitous overdue notices, and the reserve notices, checking out pamphlet and magazine material, and helping in general. Membership is open to all high school students. The group meets on the first and third Mondays of each month at 3:05.

Members this year were Mike Barsi, John Bolton, Pam Carson, Margey Covert, Sheryl Crane, Linda Crouse, Jan Deane, Janice George, Kelly Grindstaff, Ree Huston, Susan Koester, Mike Kraushaar, Leanna Loomer, Lynn Losasso, Linda Miner, Terry Morris, Debby Nicholson, Eileen Nielson, Sandy Richardson, Kathy Riggins, Tom Roark, Dick Shelton, Cynthia Snowden, Paula Swain, and Linda Wright. Officers were Susan Koester, president; Sheryl Crane, vice-president; Sandy Richardson, secretary; and Dick Shelton, treasurer. Terry Morris was vice-president and chairman of the nominating committee of Western Illinois Student Library Assistants of which Western High is a member.

The main event on the Library Assistants' calendar was the annual book sale, for which they collected old books and sold them at a low price. This year the book sale was held in the spring. Other events were the WISLA (regional) convention, held at Western High this year, and the state convention, to both of which Western sent delegates. The state organization sponsors a scholarship awarded annually to a promising high school student who plans to major in library science in college.

Throughout the year students received various honors for scholarship, citizenship, and community service. These people were an asset to the school and their merits reflected favorably their individual abilities.

Scholastic achievements brought honors in many ways. A group of students, selected on the basis of scholastic ability, character, and leadership, comprised the National Honor Society. On April 14 the society attended a meeting held by Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society in education, to honor members of scholastic societies on campus and senior honor students from the high schools in McDonough County. President A. L. Knoblauch addressed the group. As a result of scores acquired on the National Merit Scholarship test Ross Greenleaf, Muriel Knoblauch, Linda Morgan, and Chris Potter, who placed among the top 2% who were honored of the 1,600,000 students taking the examination nationally, received letters of commendation for college.

Elections played an important role in school activities. A surprise announcement at the Junior-Senior Prom in May named Muriel Knoblauch and Aldon Daniels to preside as royalty over the festivities. These people were selected by the Junior Class in late February for this honor. During winter quarter, 6 people were chosen by the student body as school personalities. Cheryl Bain, Melanie Dively, Kathy Riggins, Mike Barsi, Allen Fritschel, and Bill Galloway received this honor. Elected by the student body were Cheryl Bain and Bill Galloway to reign as homecoming queen and king for 1964. Dorothy Gingerich was named as D.A.R. winner, an award given annually on the basis of leadership, courage, service, and scholarship.

Various community groups sponsored students to a variety of activities. A local organization sent delegates Aldon Daniels, Bill Galloway, Ben Jenkins and Charles Schoeninger to Boys' State in Springfield during the summer of 1964. At the annual Football Banquet, sponsored by the Rotary Club, Aldon Daniels was announced as the most improved Western High football player and Bill Galloway as the most valuable football player.

Students brought other honors to the school in many aspects. Recognizing the achievement of obtaining a required number of badges, Pat Ritter received the Eagle Scout Award. In April of 1964, Mike Sallee was elected as the chairman of the West Central District of the Illinois Junior Academy of Science. In the Spring of '65 Mike was elected to a state office. Several other students entered projects and papers in the district science fair and progressed to the state exposition.

Many of the people of Western received various honors this past year. On the annual Awards Night in the spring, students were announced as winners in a variety of fields of study. Awards in music, sports, literary, speech, dramatics, and scholastic excellence were earned by the students during the year. Throughout the spring scholarships were presented to seniors for their accomplishments.

A new cardinal mascot, Rufus, was created by Carolyn Dufelmeier, Ann Stevens, Linda Covert, and Jane Bump.

PEP CLUB'S "RUFUS" LIFTED SCHOOL SPIRIT

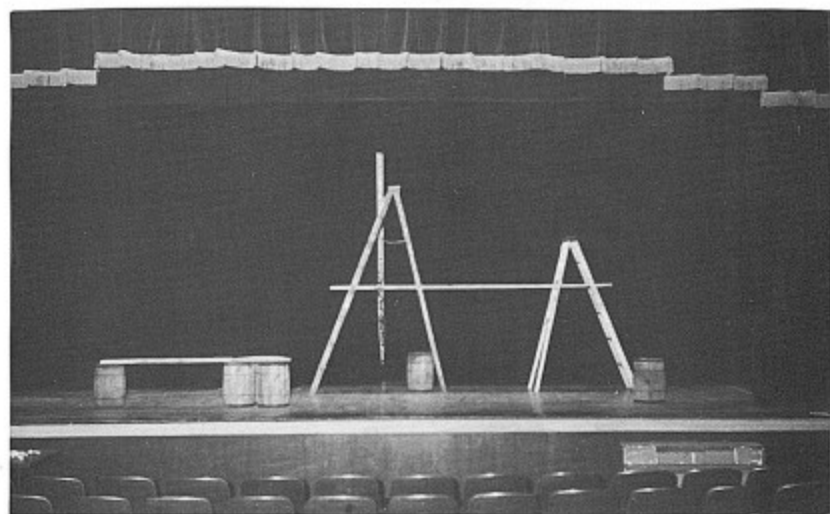

Leading the Pep Club through its second year was President Ann Stevens, assisted by Linda Covert, vice-president, Carolyn Dufelmeier, secretary, and Jane Bump, treasurer.

The Pep Club was most active during the football season this year. Members met each week to make posters and booster tags for the week-end games. The club also prepared a skit and presented it at a pep meeting. For homecoming the Pep Club decorated the stands and the field. The biggest project of the year was the large felt Cardinal made by members of the club and presented to the school during a pep meeting.

Dorothy Gingerich, the Spotlight's editor, was assisted by Gary Ferguson, assistant editor, Dick Abel, sports editor, and Katy Mead, business manager. craft, make-up, costuming, and other areas of the theatre. Membership is open to all interested high school students.

SENIOR "PEPYS" AT SCHOOL EVENTS

September 8: Summer ends. Went back to school today. Can't understand this headache; haven't had one all summer.

September 28: Sad memories were revived today. The Warren Commission has stated that Oswald hated the world and sought fame. Had he but known how infamous it would make him . . . ! ?

October 4: Nobel Peace Prize time again; this time to Martin Luther King, the second Negro so honored.

October 15: Lots has happened today . . . We had our first assembly; Khrushchev was ousted from the Party; and the Cards won the series, 4-3. It's a great day in St. Louis!

October 20: The Great Depression, President number 31, he's dead at 90 years. Hoover will always be remembered as a great humanitarian and writer.

October 30: The championship is ours! Our football players defeated Hamilton by 13 points. Congratulations, Lamoine Valley champions!

November 4: Election day, more properly termed "landslide day," for Johnson, that is. Demos won everywhere, including Kerner in our own Illinois.

November 17: Another assembly. Ede Pfeiffer lectured on communism. Thespians present The Innocents tomorrow; I hear it's a top-notch play.

November 23: Racial troubles all over the country. People and prejudice, the only cause. When will it all end? Discussed the problem at Tri Mu today. King's Stride Toward Freedom, and Why We Can't Wait. Interesting discussion!

November 30: Miss Narakol spoke; Thailand came alive today. More assemblies of this nature should be presented in the future.

December 6: Messiah music came to Western Hall at the University today. A famed oratorio by Handel.

December 8: New Zealand was at WHS today, in the form of Mr. Sidney Morris; an excellent program by an acclaimed international lecturer.

December 17: Had our own Christmas program tonight; the selections were enjoyed by all in attendance. We all left in an inspired mood.

December 23: Christmas vacation came late this year. We really must do something about this! Disgraceful and in bad taste, too. Christmas dance tonight. Santa came too. What a spectacle! It was enjoyed by all, and the Salvation Army children in the area received the admission, toys. Christmas is approaching; hope to have a nice holiday and, as Tiny Tim observed, "God bless us, everyone."

January 6: Sure glad I've had the mumps. An epidemic is spreading like wildfire through the school. Even teachers, with their indestructible constitutions are not immune. It's sad! . . .

January 15: Churchill is stricken . . . A blood clot on the brain has threatened to take away the revered leader. We are all praying. Not expected to live.

January 20: He weakens; death draws near. Memories flooded the minds of the people of his era; some cheerful, others sad. L.B.J. was inaugurated today. Much has changed since a year ago.

January 22: Only third place in the County. Basketball players defeated by BPC; had earlier defeated them. But all brightened because we beat our arch rival, Macomb High! Joy to the world!

January 24: The immortal Churchill has fallen; man of the century, wartime hero, statesman, all of these and never another. Britain's finest hour was truly his.

February 10: A familiar figure presented an assembly today. Mr. Dave Goeke lectured on wildlife. Illustrations supplemented very nicely.

February 15: Music world is at loss for words. A great piano style and voice has passed. Nat King Cole will always be remembered for his special jazz sound.

February 19: A share of the conference championship in basketball was won tonight. Plymouth became our last victim of the regular season. Western High successes are rolling in from everywhere. It's great to be a part of it.

February 21: Another assassination. We have not learned our lesson. Malcom X was shot while speaking at a Harlem rally.

February 26: Once again, our boys have won the District. Northwestern went down before a barrage of revenge for our loss during the regular season. On to Regional!

March 2: The National Aeronautics and Space Administration presented the most interesting assembly yet this year.

March 3: Defeated BPC again Monday night, but our season is over with a loss to Galesburg. It was a hard-fought game, and we gave the top-seeded team a run for their money. This was my last high school basketball game, other seniors, too. We'll miss the exciting tradition of winning at Western.

March 5: End of the second quarter. I'm so sad I could cry . . . for joy! One more to go and we're through. There are still many things left to do this quarter, two of the most important of which are prom and the class trip. New York, by jet! Interesting experiences are awaiting us there.

Graduation, the most looked-forward-to program in our young lives, is rapidly approaching. I don't feel sorry that it's coming. You can never tell about the future though.

March 9: Poor Juniors; National Merit time again. Still have SAT and ACT to survive. They're rough tests. Good Luck!

FASHIONS FROM POLE TO POLE

Fashions ranged from one pole to another this year. Girls wore anything from bulky-knit sweaters to blazers. Versatile jumpers for either informal or semi-formal wear, ski jackets which were both lightweight and warm, and the water repellent "Swamp-Jacket" were popular with the girls. Casual shoes in a variety of styles were flat or low-heeled. Shoes and blouses were inspired by the styles of the days of Tom Jones. Hair styles were up or down but emphasized the longer and straighter styles. Boys, too, followed longer hair fashions and adopted the popular Madras in jackets and shirts.

SENIORS AUGMENTED INCOME BY WORKING

Cheerleader Patty Nix encouraged excited Western fans.

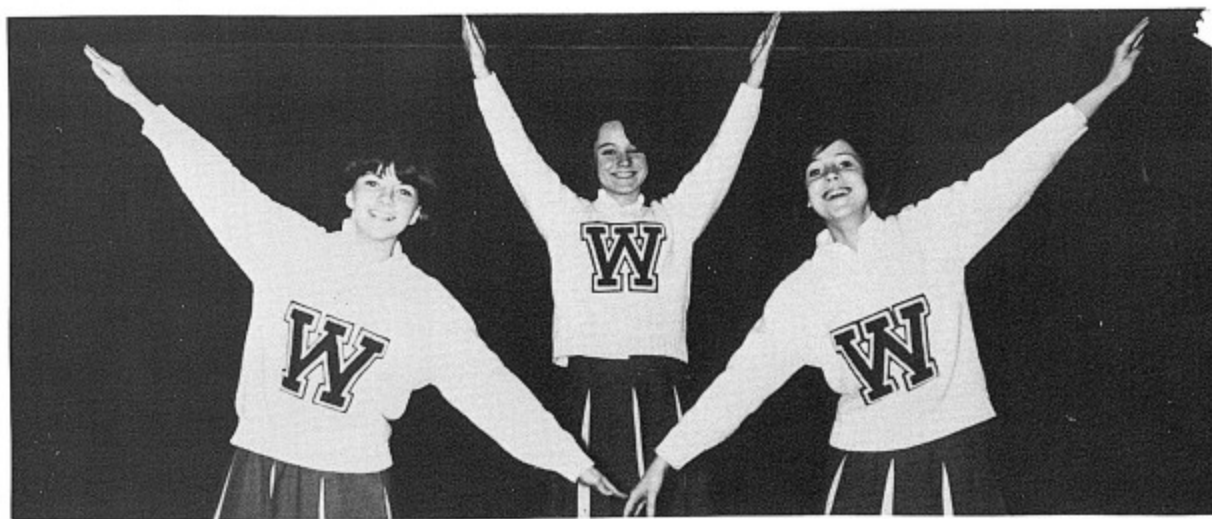

Work began for the 8 high school cheerleaders in the week of June 7 when they traveled to Illinois State University to attend a cheerleading camp. Both varsity and junior varsity groups won their share of the blue ribbons given for daily competition, and in the final contest they both came out with firsts.

Summer practice, as well as weekly sessions during football and basketball seasons, were spent planning pep meetings and skits, making signs, and practicing. This hard work brought results at the McDonough County Tournament when the varsity squad won the first place trophy for the second consecutive year. More important to Western High than a trophy was the leadership and enthusiasm shown by this group in the sports activities of the year.

The varsity cheerleaders also elected a fine group of junior high cheerleaders who followed the example by winning the first place trophy at the County Tournament.

Miss Gray was the adviser of the cheerleaders.

CHEERLEADERS AROUSED WESTERN SPIRIT

Linda Crouse, Pam Ricci, and Paula Swain cheered for junior varsity teams.

At times the faces of the cheerleaders reflected despair.

Hope was many times on the faces of the cheerleaders.

Western Cheerleaders Patty Nixa, Ginny Wyne, Melanie Dively, Ruth Ann Nell, and Cheryl Bain were "rooting for the Cards" from the sidelines.

Often the actions of the cheerleaders showed enthusiasm.

In their 1964 season the Western football Cardinals enjoying one of the biggest turnouts in several years continued their winning ways. Their 5-3 season record earned them the 12th Lamoine Valley Conference championship in the last 13 years. The performance of new and young talent from the ranks of lower classmen provided an excellent supplement to the veteran players.

In the first contest of the year Bushnell handed the Cards their first loss of the season. The Western offense never really opened up as the defensive unit was on the field for two-thirds of the game. During the Knoxville game, the first time Western got its hands on the ball, Quarterback Aldon Daniels moved the team to a touchdown. From there the defense held fast. This 12-0 win boosted the spirits of the Cardinals. At LaHarpe Western faced their first LVC conference opponent. The game turned out to be a scoring battle, but the final score, 26-12, tipped the scales in favor of the Cardinals. The Warsaw game was the easiest victory of the campaign. After a gigantic half-time lead, Western started the second half with many reserves. The Western defense held Warsaw to no scores while the offense rolled up fifty points for Western's second conference victory.

The homecoming game with Carthage was, as Coach Harry Sockler put it, "the determining game for the conference championship." Now, with that championship in sight, the team was more determined than ever. At the half, Western held a slim 7-6 lead. During the third period both teams earned another touchdown. Western failed on its next series of downs and was forced to give the ball to the Blueboys. Here, the Cardinal defense entrenched to fight off the advancing Carthage offense. It was then that linebacker Bill Galloway pulled the surprise play of the season. He intercepted a lateral from the Carthage quarterback and ran for a touchdown. That iced the game for the Cards who won 20-12 and took over the conference lead.

Just added to the schedule, Aledo had an unimpressive record but was perhaps the toughest team of the year. The Aledo offense gained a two-touchdown lead in the first half and added another in the third period. Then, the Cards' offense began. The score was tied by Western with only one minute left to play. Aledo succeeded in completing a long touchdown pass that minute making the score 27-20. In Western's last futile try, the Cardinal offense was stopped on the Aledo 15-yard marker.

At Hamilton the conference crown would be decided. With a win or tie the Cards would have the championship to themselves. If they lost, they would share it with Carthage. In the first half the two offenses each scored once. Then in the second half Western ran away with the game scoring three touchdowns. Only in the final minutes when the game was all but won did the Cardinal defense permit a second Hamilton score. In their 27-13 win the cards took the coveted LVC crown. In the last game of the season Western faced Lewistown. After three periods of scoreless play Lewistown scored a touchdown. That was all they needed, for the equal teams battled scoreless for the last period.

In the 1964 season the Cards with much young talent gained the valuable experience for a successful team.

CARDS WON 4th STRAIGHT DISTRICT TITLE

The varsity basketball team was composed basically of four seniors and three sophomores. The four seniors were all lettermen. They were Bill Galloway, Mike Barsi, Dennis Moon, and Tom Graff. Sophomores, Allen Fritschel, Jim Whitehead, and Mike Speer, with the help of junior varsity players, rounded out the varsity team.

The team got off to a rather slow start by losing two of its first three games. The team then started playing the ball they were capable of playing. They finished second behind a very strong Rushville team in the Western Invitational Tourney held December 26, 28, and 29.

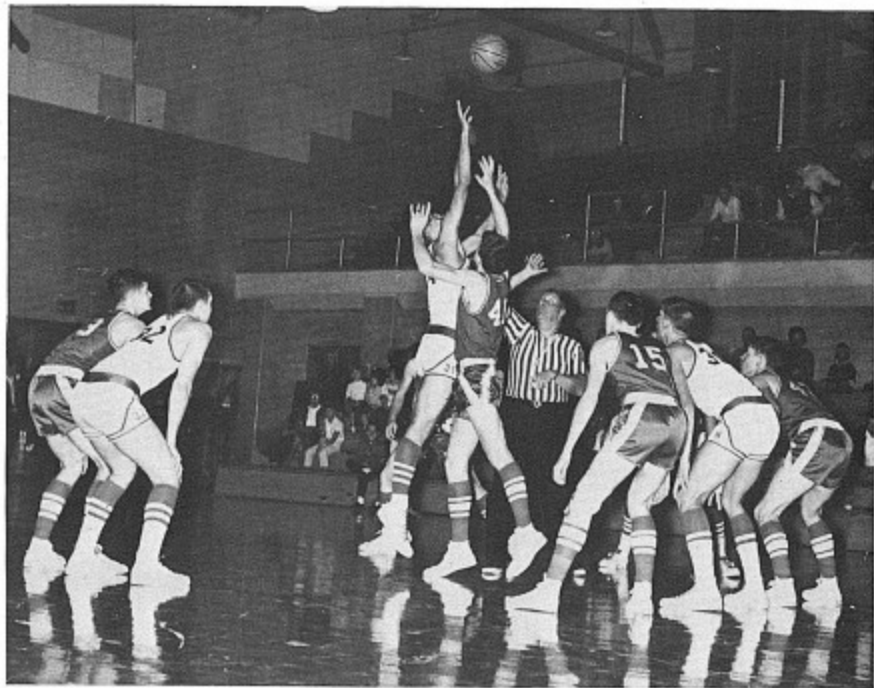

The County Tournament was one of the really big highlights of the season. The Cards were defeated by Bushnell, and for this defeat they received a bonus, the chance to play Macomb High. A Western High vs. Macomb High game is always a great game, and this was no exception. The Cards rose to the occasion and with the backing of some very enthusiastic fans defeated Macomb High for third place. The team went on to finish the regular season with fifteen wins and eight losses.

The Redbirds then caught the tournament fever and reached the peak of their capabilities. The Cards became the surprise of the area when they defeated Northwestern for the District Tournament title. The Redbirds had more in store for the area fans when they reached the Regional Tournament. They defeated Bushnell which had handed them earlier their worst defeat of the season.

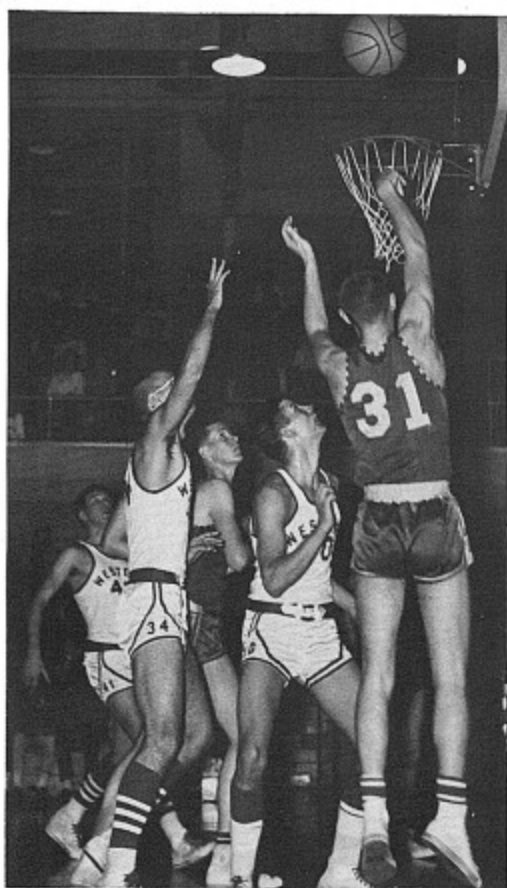

The Cards finished in a blaze of glory by giving Galesburg, the second ranked team in the state at that time, a great game for three quarters. The fourth quarter's play showed Galesburg's bench strength, and the Cards fell to defeat.

The Cardinals during the course of the year earned the right to Co-Championship of the Lamoine Valley Conference and finished the season with an over-all record of 19-9.

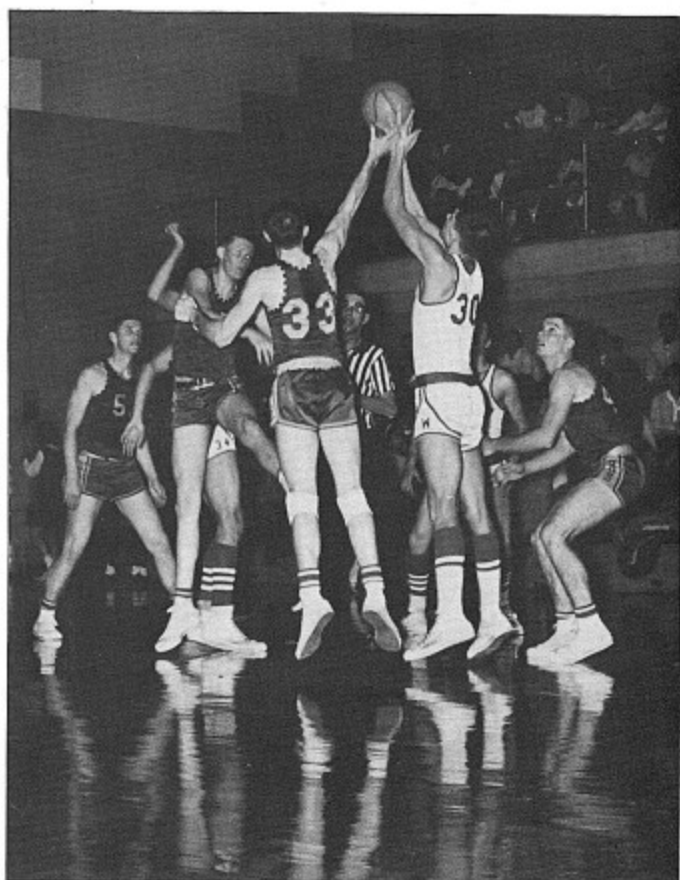

6'5" Senior Tom Graff controlled the opening tip against Warsaw.

REDBIRDS SOARED TO VICTORY

Graff and Barsi moved in to rebound position against Rushville.

6'3" Senior Mike Barsi grabbed the opening tipoff from Rushville.

Spring sports were late in starting this year because snow still covered the ground in the latter part of March. Since the yearbook went to press in March, records for spring sports could not be presented. However, the sports staff has made available the schedules for the spring of 1965. The baseball team, coached by Mr. Hohman, the golf team, coached by Mr. Mussatto, and the track team, coached by Mr. Sockler, looked forward to successful seasons.

Highlighting the year for the BOCH organization, composed of the members of the band, the orchestra, and the chorus, were several major events.

The chorus sang with the University Choir and the Macomb High School Choir in presenting The Messiah by Handel this December. They were accompanied by the Macomb Civic Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Forrest Wanninger, and had the honor of hearing four fine soloists: Wanda Schideman, soprano; Mary Burdette, mezzo-soprano; Wallace Bartosz, tenor; and Russel Smith, bass.

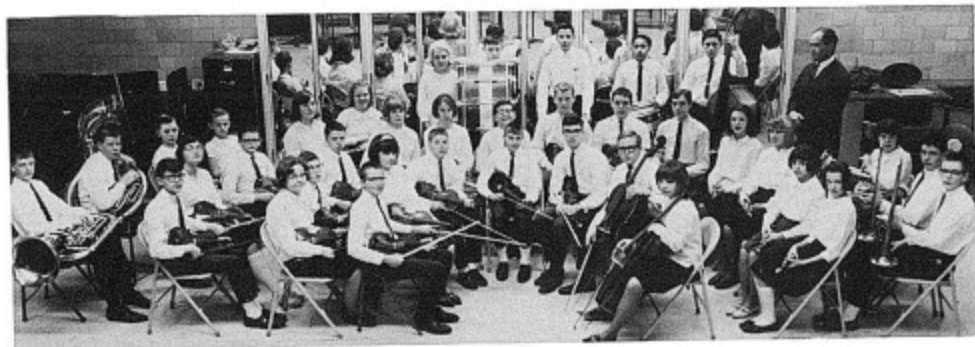

Western's successful football and basketball seasons were accompanied by an enthusiastic marching band and the energetic twirlers. They were called upon to play at one of the University's games, a performance for which they received many compliments. Western was well represented by the band and the twirlers in the University's homecoming parade and in Macomb High's homecoming parade.

Members of the orchestra and the chorus gave the annual Christmas concert. A feature of the orchestra's selections was Exodus by Ernest Gold with Muriel Knoblauch playing the piano solo. The chorus sang several selections from The Messiah.

Western was successful at the state solo and ensemble contest. Several students were awarded superior ratings. With this success in mind, the music department looked forward to the organization contest in the spring.

Other events planned for the spring were an exchange program with Macomb High, the Spring concert by the band, orchestra, and chorus and, commencement.

Graduation will see the loss of many fine instrumentalists and vocalists. In particular, Western will lose several student pianists, Melanie Dively, Dorothy Gingerich, Linda Morgan, Ginny Wyne, Susan Koester, and Muriel Knoblauch, who give their talent to perform in solo work and accompaniment.

Western High students and faculty managed to keep the calendar full. Very often, it was difficult to schedule a date for a meeting or event. Miss Allen, newly-appointed Counselor of Girls, and Mr. Taylor, Counselor of Boys, with counseling and teaching in their respective fields, also held the responsibilities of checking in those students who were absent or tardy, of issuing anticipated absentee slips, and of assigning permits to those who wished to use the University buildings.

PRINCIPAL GAVE VIEWS ON WESTERN

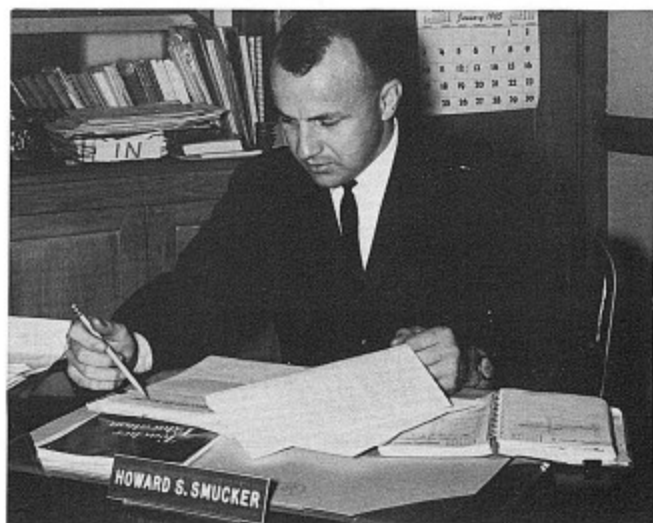

The Western Campus School has completed another very successful year. Whatever success and satisfaction we have enjoyed has been due to the fine spirit of cooperation displayed by the student body, faculty and administration. Western looks forward with anticipation to an expansion and enrichment of its educational program which will result in improved and challenging educational opportunities and experiences for our students.

Western continues to make a significant contribution to the teacher training program through the role of a laboratory where professional teaching experiences may be provided for University students entering the procession. We hope that the teachers of the schools of tomorrow are better as a result of their contacts with our school.

Western will continue to be alert to desirable educational change and will attempt to be involved in new and challenging programs. We will continue to keep in mind our objective of making our school a good school for all our children and a stimulating environment for the training of teachers.

H. Waldo Horrabin
H. Waldo Horrabin
Principal

Campus School faculty members and students play an important role in the preparation of future teachers, by opening their classrooms for observation, participation and student teaching. Western Illinois University student teachers receive the opportunity of participating in a case study in Education 201 and a trial teaching experience in Education 301 here in the Campus School. These rewarding experiences leading up to a student teaching assignment are the result of cooperation with Mr. Waldo Horrabin, the Campus School faculty members and University instructors. The coordination of these meaningful activities is handled through the Office of Laboratory Experiences.

Mr. Howard Smucker

TO THE GRADUATES:

Your Epilogue will present a kaleidoscopic view of your school. You will see, as you look at the pictures and read copy, that many different and ostensibly unrelated activities do fit and belong together in a comprehensive school program.

You will be able to assess how you and the groups to which you belonged performed. From this you can take an inventory of yourself and your organizations as well as your school. And, in the self-scrutinizing you can isolate your own achievements, limitations, satisfactions, and disappointments to consider their implications for the future.

May you do this self-study and planning well, so that your future will be as rewarding in non-material as well as monetary ways, according to your capabilities.

Congratulations for past achievements. May they be eclipsed by your performance in the future.

Best wishes!

The faculty of Western Campus School in order to insure sound laboratory experiences for future teachers maintains an effectively functioning school for students.

To gain a more interesting "inside" on the faculty, a student poll was conducted. The information varied from colleges attended to what the teachers would be if they could start over. Sixty-six colleges ranging from Western Illinois University to the University of Southern California to Johns Hopkins University were listed. I.E.A. and N.E.A. with various fraternities and sororities were among thirty-eight Members of each class and the faculty presented a skit at the homecoming pep assembly. Eight "senators" of the faculty, Mr. Dornquast, Mr. Harding, Mr. Hohman, Mr. Valett, Mr. Kellogg, Mr. Hart, Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Scharfenberg, with their leader, Mr. Horrabin, decreed that the "Cardinalae Magnae" would defeat their foes. The decree was sent forth and carried out.

The staff of Western High contributed a great deal to betterment and welfare of the school. Without it the school could not have functioned properly. Mr. Kenneth Bryan served as custodian for part of the year. Mr. Lyle Gray assisted during the absence of Mr. Butterfield. Mr. Lloyd Atwater, custodian, is not pictured. Mr. Virgil France replaced Mr. Bryan.

What is a teen-ager? He is a person whose life is one of emotional contrasts and developing interests. This person is at a time of life when he is making final preparations with regard to future plans and life work. Yet a teen-ager is both fun-loving as well as serious. At times he seems to be in his own little realm, but then something will happen that makes him aware of and thankful for the whole world. Even while appreciating life and getting the most out of it, he still considers it a challenge to achieve better goals. While attaining these goals, he needs social acceptance. For some, this means following instead of leading. However, even a teen-age follower is not intimidated by his leaders and can make his thoughts and opinions known. A teen-ager is beginning to shoulder responsibility and is coming out of the "protective custody" of his parents. With the proper motivation to go out to see the world, he begins to gain experience and get a taste of life.

While a teen-ager can have a variety of interests, he might not have a definite plan about developing them. He is learning to nourish these interests and improve upon them. This is where high school has a great influence. For some, classes will develop new interests. Organizations will influence and mold them. Faculty members will advise and propel them in the right direction. Student government will demonstrate the initiative to enlarge interests in the right way.

We hope this book has shown the life of a teen-ager. We hope it has shown the teen-ager in all his realms of interest whether they are sports, dramatics, or science. If, by looking through and reading these pages, the reader can see this, then the book is a success.

There are some people without whom the Epilogue would not have been possible. We would like to thank Dr. Crane for permission to use the University facilities for photography and printing. Those involved were Mr. A. B. Roberts, Mr. Don Crawford, Mr. George Chadderdon who made all the prints, Mr. Charles Meline, and Mrs. Connie McLaughlin who printed the copy. We would also like to thank Mr. Claude Tarleton for all of the portraits and Mr. E. A. Anderson who is the representative of the Inter-Collegiate Press. Probably the most important people were the members of the staff. They are the ones who did the pasting and the writing. With the division editors they were the most important. We thank them for their cooperation.

Dear Miss Flynn,

You're my favorite human teacher (Some of them in the fifth grade aren't ^{so} human!)

Really you're my favorite teacher, period!

Have fun on your trip,
and mind what Van said!

Love,

Janet
Wanninger

P.S.

I'll miss you next year!
