Discovered: A New Western

Discovery is a word we hear often in school. The whole process of learning is one of discovery. This year, more than any other, has been a year of discovery at Western Laboratory School. A whole new school awaited our discovery this September.

We discovered the advantages (and disadvantages) of a school swimming pool. The grade school and junior high students learned the pleasure of their first lockers. We found that it is possible to go to school in a building without windows and that restrooms do not necessarily need doors. The high school students discovered the joys of informal study halls. Saga Food was a discovery that none of the students (nor their parents) will ever forget.

Now, only one thing remains to be discovered this year: the 1968-69 Epilogue. Read on!

Western Moves In on

the LRC, LGR and MPA

Academics

(Classes, LRC, laboratory work and independent study)

Kindergarteners display their usual enthusiasm for learning, especially when it's fun.

Learning Experiences Vary at Western

Junior and senior girls find that a field without goal posts or boundaries leads to an exhausting game.

Western's future is found deep in literary pursuits.

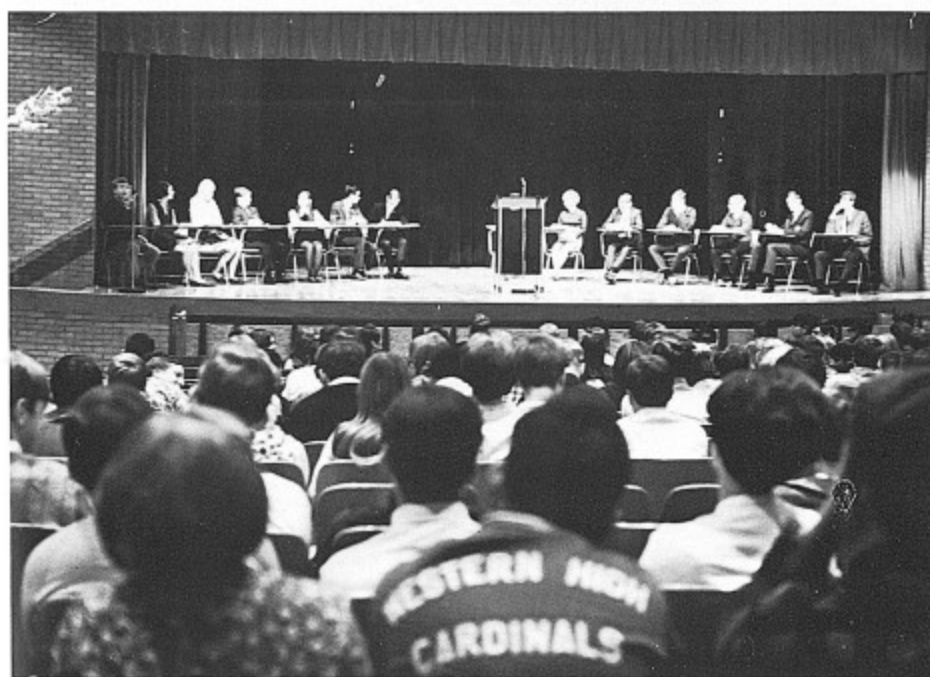

Halls may be wider in the new school but somehow they're just as crowded at 3:00.

No Task is Too Great for Western Students

Grade schoolers learn self-expression under the direction of Mr. Scharfenberg.

Western High's controversial election debate sparked a new interest in politics.

P.E. Holds Special Appeal for Gradeschoolers

Marching songs initiate a spontaneous parade of imaginative first grade musicians.

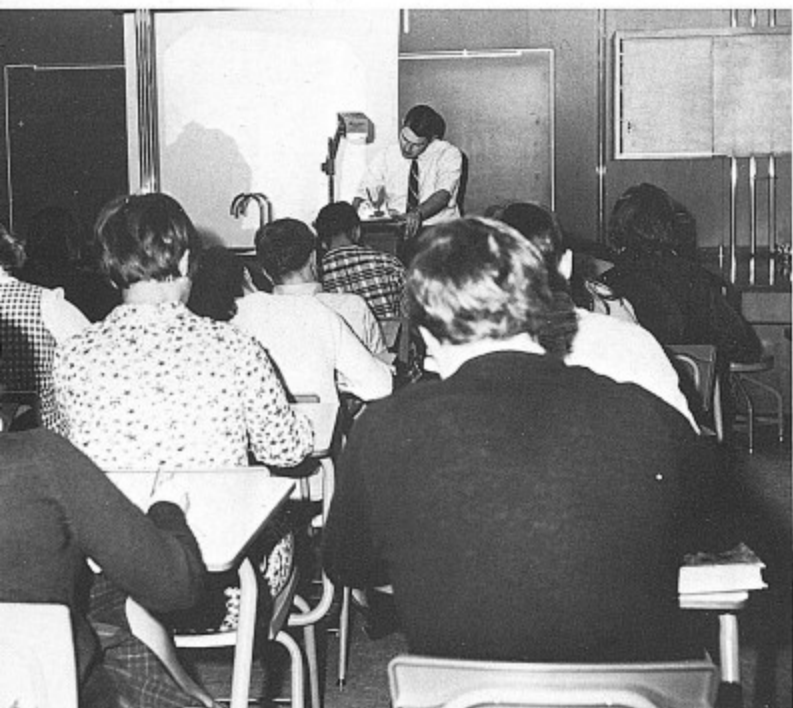

Kindergartener Timmy Daudelin bounces through physical education class.

Spanish students line up for Mr. Mosley's daily "corn-down" exercise.

Western Moves Through a Day

Pencils ready, students prepare to take notes on the fundamentals of biology as explained by Mr. Fox.

These students manage to find time to get in a few words between bites.

Students present their ideas for a new constitution to their council representatives.

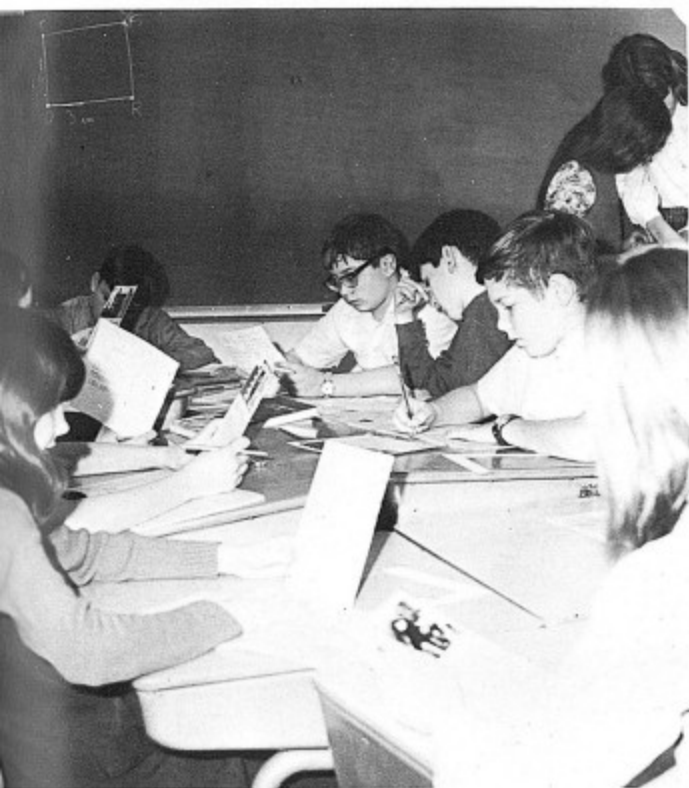

Curt Veach has found that Mr. Taylor is a reliable source of information when math problems take longer than class time to solve.

Great things may come from this consultation between Niki Kimler and Doug Mock.

Upcoming Tests Spur Concentration

Sixth graders, already feeling the pressure of high school life, are inspired to study harder.

Social Studies students discover concentration helps when a test looms in the near future.

Finals are written all over the faces of these studious Business Economics students.

Vending machines contain the dimes and nickels of many Western students.

Now, Lunch is a Subject Too

Students are busiest at 12:00.

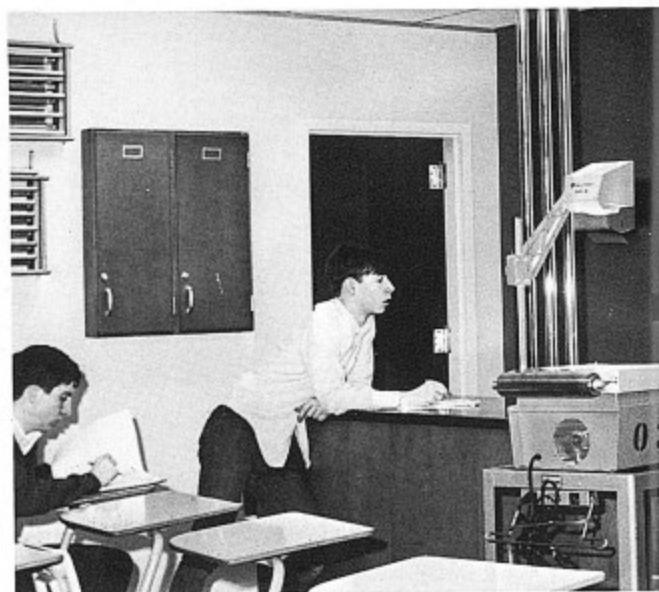

Varsity Cheerleaders gain energy by eating a nourishing Saga meal before a pep rally.

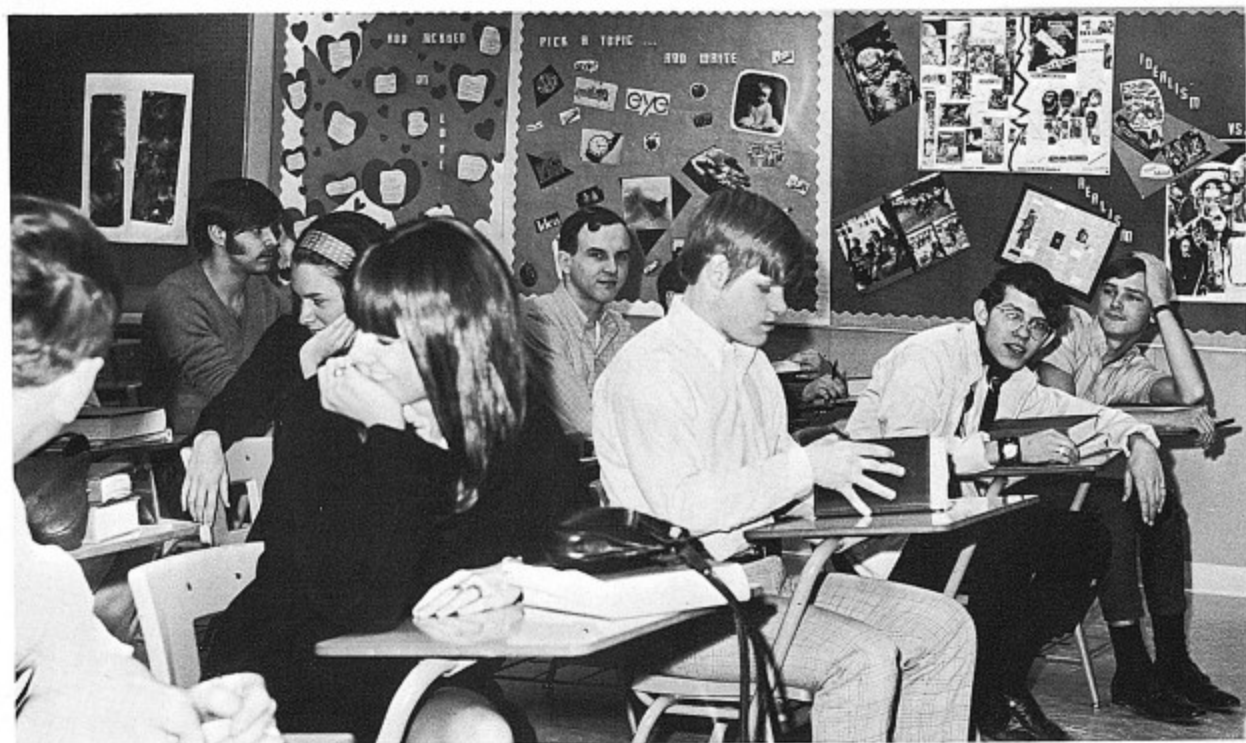

Home Ec Students learn economy through sewing.

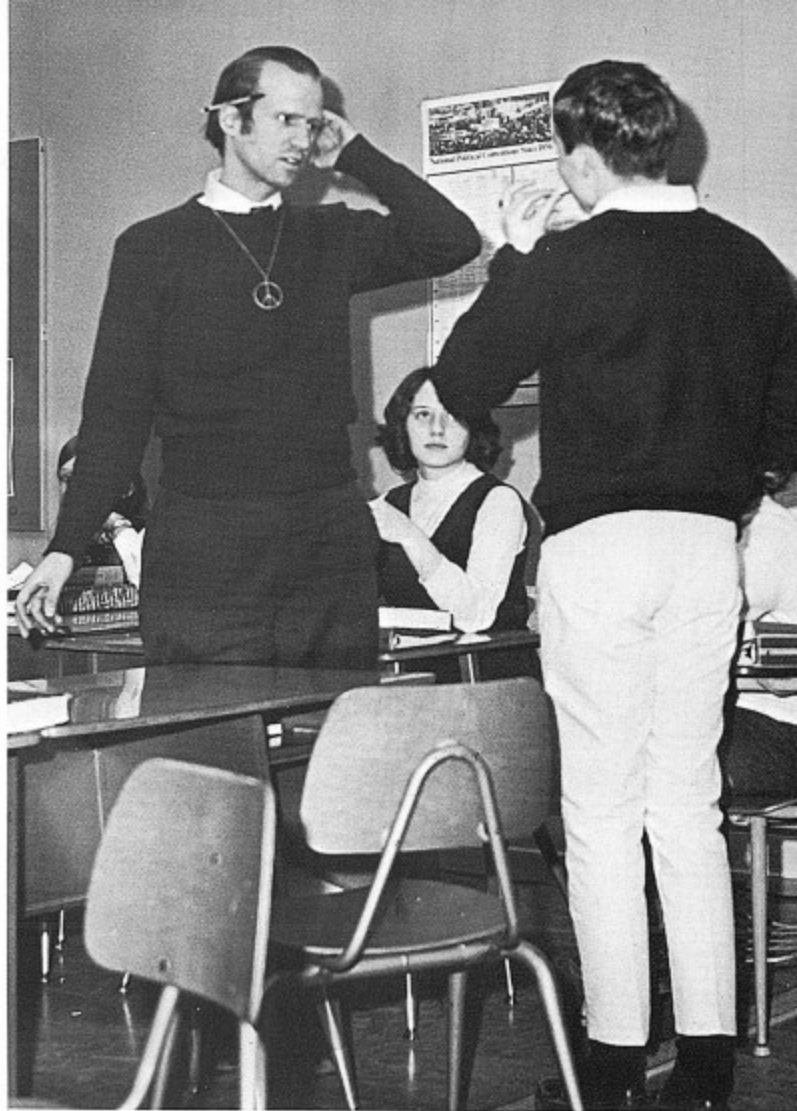

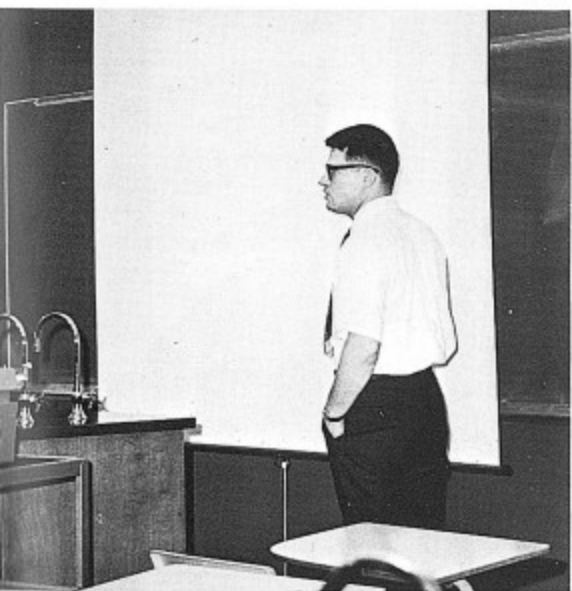

Opaque projector helps Mr. Fox explain the intricacies of biology to Dave Swain and Curt Veach.

Diversity Aids Learning

Absence of bells, an innovation this year, gives these seniors extra minutes at the start of English class.

In a typical pose, Mr. Batz discusses the day's events with Curt Veach in American Government class.

Geometry and Mr. Taylor teach students the art of rational thought.

Study carrels provide quiet seclusion for Maura Boyle.

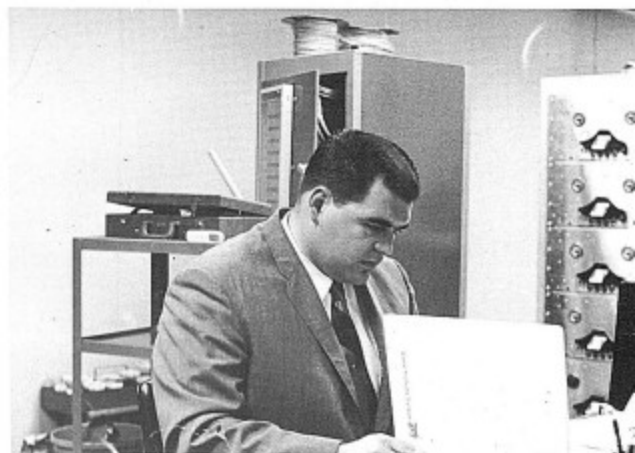

Freshmen spend empty moments enjoying the library's stock of current magazines.

College assistants are always ready to hunt up back issues of periodicals for student research.

It's All in the LRC

From the A-V Department, Mr. Bormet supervises the operations of the Dial Retrieval System.

Demonstrating the extensive LRC reference section, Mrs. Haines helps Karen Martin find the answer to her question.

As Dr. Sibbing beats the score, young musicians prepare to perform with enthusiasm.

Pep band practices to brighten school spirit.

Melodies Pour Out of Western Students

Junior High Chorus concentrates on perfection for the annual Spring Concert.

Private lessons are part of the preparation needed to make contest solo winners.

Gradeschoolers learn Latin rhythms with the aid of claves and "moving music."

Miles of hallways and muddy playing fields cause Mr. Dorothy to stay on the job continuously.

Friday afternoon the locker room receives a visit from Denny Roark and Janet Rimbey.

Western Goes On After Hours

Turtles, bars, and bits sold by Keith Nester and Peggy Grimm help finance the Epilogue.

Trish Speer and Phil Davenport find that conversation is a good excuse to stay after 3 P.M.

Potted plants in the patio area provide a new and interesting subject for third grade watercolor artists.

These freshmen art students push their pencils toward an artistic creation.

Viewing Sherri Hutson's artistic interpretation of himself, Mike Watts ponders his image.

Art Teaches Aesthetic Values

Second graders learn art appreciation through practical experience in art class.

Misery is an untied shoelace on the way to P.E.

Swinging and twirling jump ropes are a common sight in grade school P.E. classes.

Competition is a major part of physical education.

First graders concentrate on coordinating jumping skills with music.

Physical Education Means Action

Dr. Hahn is assisted in policy making by the Faculty Advisory Committee.

Innovations Mean Variety

Self-evaluation and helpful criticism are the goals of the newly-organized voluntary group counseling sessions.

Eighth grader Scott Johnson learns audio-visual techniques

After 3:00 the phone booth proves to be one of the busiest places around.

Kristi Sather discusses plans for the paper with Editor Tom Fentem.

History class railroad companies bought, sold and went bankrupt all in the space of 1 week.

A Student's Quest Is to Learn

Seventh grade English students learn the ins and outs of grammar.

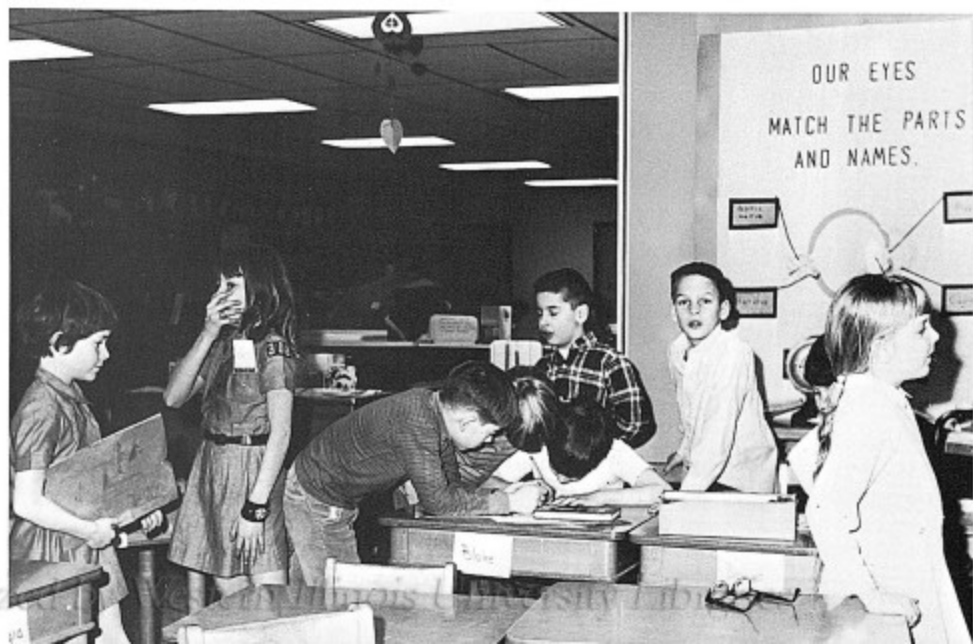

Learning about the lives of great men teaches fifth graders about their American heritage.

Excitement doesn't always come from the front of the room.

Western's third grade is always active.

Gradeschoolers find that problems are solved more easily when they work together.

Gradeschoolers Learn Cooperation

Darlos Mummert, author of the article below, Betty Fritz and Lois Krong interview President Bernhard.

Experimental Lab School in Dr. Bernhard's Plans

We were absolutely terrified at the prospect of interviewing the paramount head of our institution. When we arrived at the central administration office, our terror was heightened by the immensity and apparent efficiency of the office. At first, we were able to sit and play "cool" until the secretary said, "Dr. Bernhard will see you now, girls." Somehow, we managed to make it across the floor to the entrance of his office. Immediately, our nerves were soothed by a warm handshake and one of the most gracious people we've ever had the good fortune to meet.

Dr. Bernhard at once began explaining what we needed to know--his plans for the university and the part Western High will play in those plans. For years we, as students, have been aware of the need to justify our existence as an institution. Dr. Bernhard's solution is that we become in fact something that we have formerly only been in name—a laboratory school. The emphasis will be on the new and different which will mean that both faculty and students will have to be able to adjust to a non-routine schedule. The advent of new techniques for both the teaching and learning processes will offer Western an excitement that for the first time makes us wish we had been born a few years later.

This intriguing instrument is a good means of conveying simple scientific principles to second graders.

Learning takes a new perspective for Janet Nell with tapes from the Dial Access System.

Lay-outs are made easier for Lois Krong with acetate sheets from the A-V center.

Opaque projectors provide illustrations for third grade reports.

Early starts are a necessity for Mrs. Ingles, a member of Western's crack maintenance team.

Students arriving early are confronted with the fact that it is almost as hard to get into school before 7:45 as it is to get out before 2:55.

Starting their college career early, Seniors Mimi Kretschmar and Dixie Faries take advantage of enrolling in a Russian course on the Hill.

Eight O'clock, Time For Animation

Early each morning Miss Saettele gingerly opens Pandora's box.

A.V. skills are sandwiched between government activities.

Students Gain Unique Skills

Spool knitting and casting are new words for these third graders.

Operating the printing press is part of I. A. for John Carson and Dana Nissen.

Proper use of the microscope will continue to help these students in future science courses.

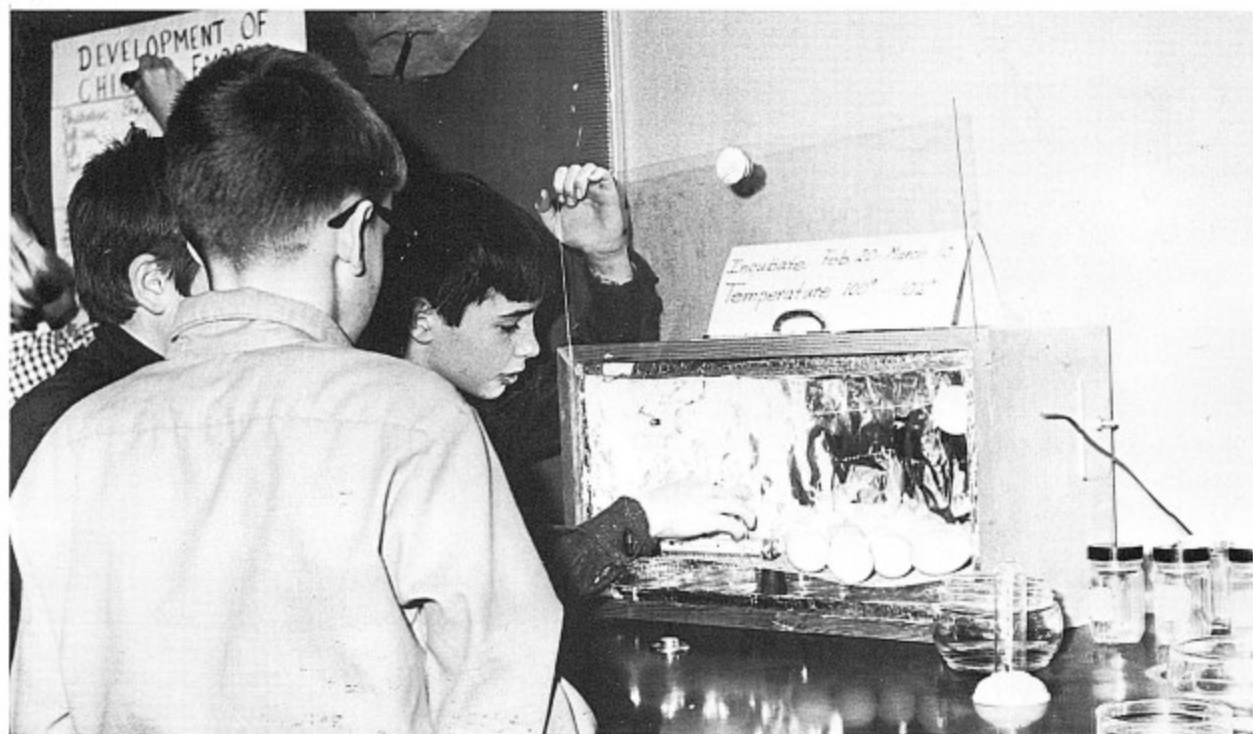

SRA helps build sixth graders' reading skills.

After a unit of study, third graders try their hand at writing Haiku.

Sixth Graders place eggs in the incubator in preparation for their experiments.

Observation of maturing eggs assist in the understanding of the development of egg embryos.

Impatiently checking the maturing eggs, David Elser adjusts the incubator.

These gradeschoolers have over-come their fear of water.

Seniors Head List of Honor Students

The purpose of this page is to give recognition to those students who have received honors throughout the year. Some awards will not be listed since the Epilogue deadline occurred before all results were on record.

Tom Zimmerman, Jeff Joyce, Scott Ricci and Mike Ritter attended the Junior Academy of Science in the spring. Tom Fentem represented Western in the All-State Chorus and Steve Julstrom in the All-State Orchestra. Stan Abbot, Jerry Morgan, Dave Nissen and John Riggins spent a week at Boys' State in Springfield last summer.

Lois Krong and Stan Abbot received the DAR and SAR awards made annually. Lynne Johnson and Lea Losasso earned National Merit Scholarship Letters of Commendation. Illinois State Scholarships went to Betty Fritz, Lynne Johnson, Lois Krong, Lea Losasso, Judy Morgan and Kristi Sather.

During Boy Scout Week in February, Bob Adams, selected by his council, attended the State Citizenship Day in Springfield. He had the added honor of being elected to the position of Lieutenant Governor for the day and posed

Initiates to Quill and Scroll Society in the spring included: Maura Boyle, Larry Carr, Lea Losasso, Janet Nell and Krista Sather.

With this recognition of honors, a tribute is paid to the hard-working class officers and advisers. Seniors elected Mike Robinson for their president; John Riggins, vice-president; Kim Cunningham, secretary; Larry Carr, treasurer. Mrs. Mummert and Miss Buckley served as advisers for the class. Juniors entrusted their prom plans to Keith Chapman as president; Rory Ricci, vice-president; Natalie Powell, secretary; and Mary Hull, treasurer. Advising the Class of 1970 were Dr. Harding and Miss Saettele.

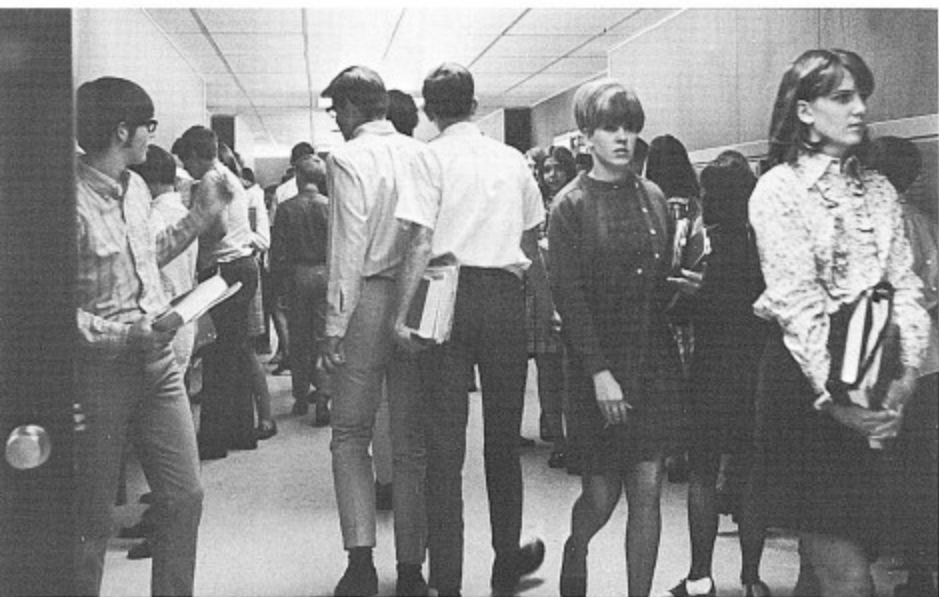

Bob Hull was elected to the office of president of the sophomore class; Signe Sather, vice-president; Janet Rimbey, secretary; and Jeri Shryock, treasurer. Serving as advisers were Mr. Fox and Mr. Scharfenberg. In the freshman class, Larry Summers presided with the assistance of Alan Ferguson, vice-president; Holly Head, secretary; and Kathy Brown, treasurer. Freshman advisers were Mr. Houck and Mr. Sneddon.

Eighth grade students chose Chuck Leefers as president. He was assisted by John Wyne, vice-president; Laurie Crane, secretary; and Jeff Hepinstall, treasurer. Mr. Brown and Mrs. Stiffler were class advisers. Marty Barsi lead the seventh grade in their planning with the help of Mike McTeague, vice-president; Beth Robb, secretary; and David Wanninger, treasurer. Miss Flynn and Mr. Bettis advised the seventh grade class.

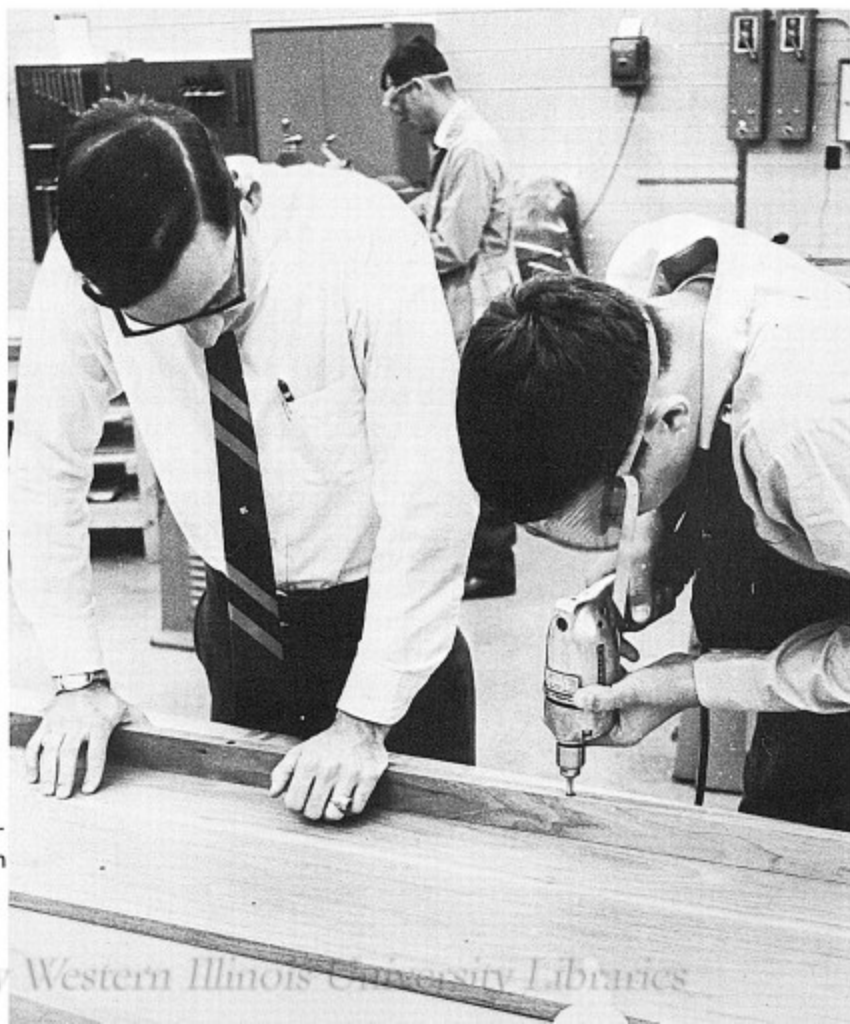

"The Wizard of Oz" was the theme of the junior-senior prom, the social event closing the year. Jeff Jones, king, and Kristi Sather, queen, with attendants: Kristine Kowal, Trish Speer, Stan Abbot and John Riggins reigned over prom events.

Forty-nine students were graduated as the Class of 1969.

201 and 301 students from the University add to the between-classes crush.

Laboratory School Serves Dual Purpose

Each quarter the addition of 301 teachers to classes allows individual attention for every student.

As a former teacher and high school administrator, Dean Abel's interests today in the Laboratory School are of a professional, administrative and parental nature.

Western Laboratory School exists for the purpose of educating 2 groups of students: the students enrolled in the Laboratory School proper and the WIU students enrolled in the School of Education who are working toward the time when they will become teachers. Supervising the entire activity is Dr. Frederick Abel, Dean of the School of Education. His responsibilities include keeping a watchful eye on curriculum and procedure to make the Laboratory School highly innovative and a "showcase" school where all may learn.

Every year Dean Abel takes time to address the students at the Homecoming Assembly.

With the skyline of Old London setting the mood, Mrs. Emme coaches Holly Head for the singing part of Bet.

Diary of a WHS Student

September: Wow! It's really hard to get up at 7:00. I got spoiled sleeping late during the summer vacation, but it was an exciting first day in the new school. Everyone was lost. Actors and actresses from Oliver are still taking bows from their huge success last July during summer school.

October: The Miss America pageant was won by an Illinois girl. Students at the Laboratory School were introduced to the new President of Western Illinois University, Dr. John Bernhard, at the Homecoming Assembly. Homecoming was wonderful! Red, yellow and orange decorations combined to carry out the theme of "Satanic Glory."

November: Campaign signs all over school are sometimes provoking. Our mock election prediction was right. Good luck, President-elect Nixon! Mr. Stan Wright of the WIU Department of Physical Education presented an assembly this month. It was very enjoyable and informative. Maybe someday I'll go to the Olympics.

December: Sang in a theater for the first time. The Christmas Concert went beautifully; all mothers were very proud. Vacation at last! Fifteen whole days! We had an unwhite Christmas. Returned after 11 months of waiting, the Pueblo Crew got home in time for Christmas and renewed our hope for the world. Apollo 8 has safely landed. The re-entry went according to plans. The Christmas Dance was a huge success. The Holiday Inn was sparkling new. I, of course, spilled my punch. The holiday season was greatly sombered by the death of Dr. Robert Findley, an educator, a parent, a friend.

January: Dick Gregory talked at Western Hall. He was fantastic. His talk climaxed the events of a Black Studies Week, the first of its kind at WIU. Most people found it effective and thought-provoking.

Evaluations of forums during Negro History and Brotherhood Week were made by students, faculty and guests.

February: The Sit-in on campus at the Union concerning the Merry Prankster's write-in candidate in the student government election, Hoppe, was announced over WLS. Proceedings were greatly exaggerated, however. Two weeks of open forums at noon for Black Negro History and Brotherhood Weeks were informative. Each day had a new speaker to help broaden students' knowledge of racial affairs. These programs tested the maturity of WHS students; many failed. California's coast was damaged by an oil leak. The people there are still recovering from Southern California's floods of a few weeks ago.

March: Western's sociology class visited the Fort Madison Prison. Verrrry interesting but, depressing. Professional baseball players have ended their strike. I was afraid if the strike didn't end that we'd be watching roller derbies on Sunday afternoons all summer. My favorite song is "Dizzy." Apollo 9 has splashed down, a huge success. I guess it's "Moon-or-bust" next flight. The newspaper made its debut after a lull of 6 months.

April: Horn's Acres is recovering from a recent invasion of the Biology Club members. Juniors are furiously preparing for Prom. Their theme "The Wizard of Oz" should make an intriguing evening.

May: The Juniors really know how to put on a great Prom.

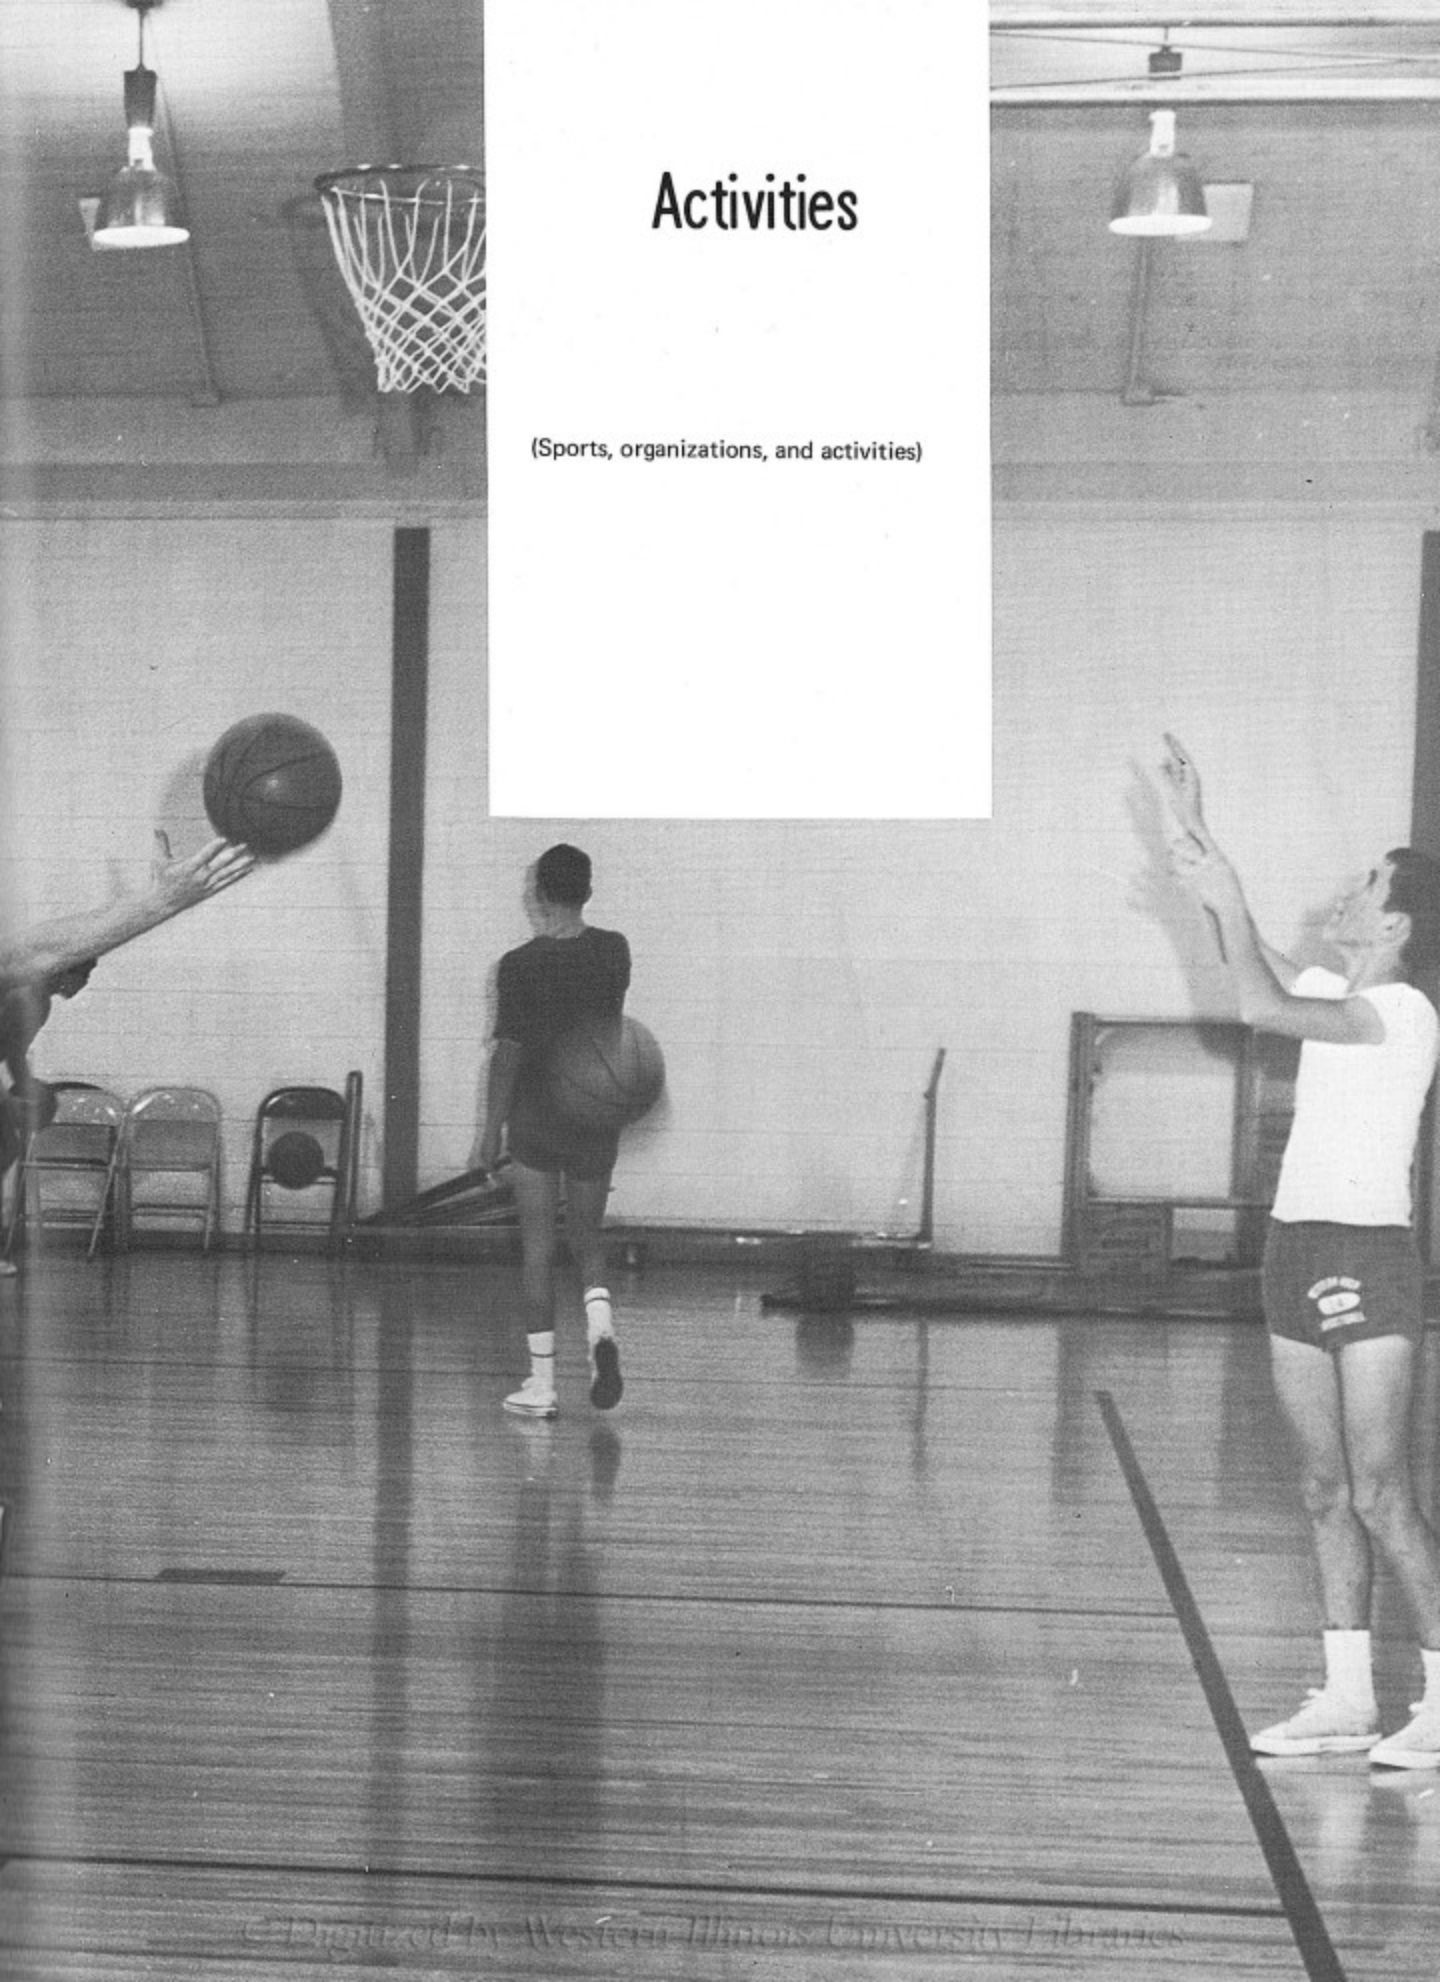

June: Graduation was really sad, but happy. It brought back a flood of memories, many of which I forgot to put in the diary. Next year, I must keep a better one.

Activities

(Sports, organizations, and activities)

Two of Biology Club's officers, Kris Kowal and Kristi Sather discuss with Tom Zimmerman his Junior Academy of Science experiment.

Biology Club

Students in Biology Club, with its usual broad interpretation of its purpose "to promote interests and activities in biology and science," managed to squeeze a sledding party into its schedule. Of course, the club's main function was its sponsorship of the Illinois Junior Academy of Science this spring. Then, there was the Bio-blast (a night of fun and frolic dedicated to the rejuvenation of faculty-student relations), and a camp-out at Horn's Acres (which replaced the annual trip to the Big City).

Candy Stripers

Western's Candy Stripers sponsored by Miss Allen provide vital assistance at McDonough District Hospital by working in the coffee shop, feeding patients, and distributing mail, gifts and flowers. Each girl contributes 4 hours a month without pay to the business of healing people.

Debate

Whenever the serenity of the LRC was shattered by the clamor of voices in argument, a member of the Debate Team was usually at the heart of the explosion. This year's team, under the direction of WIU student Gary Sylvester, attended contests throughout the State. Practice debates and a forum on the Vietnam conflict were held in the Laboratory School. Hours were long (at the Normal Tournament, our debaters sat up all night planning their strategy for the following morning's debates), and the rewards seemingly few. But, to the Western debater, the opportunity to martyr oneself in defense of various peculiar causes is well worth the hours.

Ideas of many combine to produce the yearbook.

Epilogue Staff

"Tomorrow is another day," was the prevailing attitude among the Epilogue staff when the time came to get down to work. However, you'll be relieved to know that the staff, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Stiffler and the editorship of Betty Fritz, finished their task which is the book you are now reading. The countless thousands who worked on organization, layout, copy and photography managed to finish their respective jobs as well as to consume tons of candy and coke and to take an occasional sniff of rubber cement when the work got a little rough.

Explorers

As in the past, Mr. Houck and Dr. Kellogg teamed together to sponsor Western High's Explorer Scouts. As in other years, the Scouts carried on a program of community service, sponsored the intramural basketball tournament and braved the wilds in their arduous trek through the Great Wilderness.

The Lettermen's Club, a newly-formed organization, dedicated to service to the school, is made up of recognized athletes. If you have a letter handy, grab it, Boys, and sign up with Mr. Karas to usher at games, hold your own dance, and do whatever lettermen do.

Lettermen's Club

Letterman's Club, Front row: Lee Johnson, Mike Maag, Steve Castle, Dean Watson, Mike Robinson, Steve Butcher, John Barclay, Mike Daniels, Brian Abel, Jeff Jones; Row 2: Mr. Karas, adviser, Van Pogue, Jim Grimm, Dick Hahn, Tim Joyce, Alan Lindsey, Jack Frost, Keith Chapman, Bob Hull; Back row: Randy Bernhard, David Swain, Jerry Morgan, Stan Abbot, Rick Perry, Phil Davenport, Dave Nissen, John Riggins.

National Honor Society, Mr. Shaver, adviser, Lois Krong, Lea Losasso, Sherri Hutson, Lynne Johnson.
Absent: Judy Morgan.

National Honor Society

Western's National Honor Society is an organization dedicated to honoring students for academic achievement, strong character and service above and beyond the call of duty. This spring, the society honored initiates with a banquet. Members are chosen by the faculty.

Quill and Scroll Society, Darlos Mummert, Betty Fritz, Lois Krong, Mrs. Stiffler, adviser.

Quill and Scroll Society

Being a "society," this group's sole purpose is to exist. Like the delicate flower that blossoms but once a year, the Quill and Scroll Society perpetuates itself by annually coming out of hibernation just long enough for an injection of fresh recruits (students who have distinguished themselves in scholastic and in literary endeavors). This rare event, usually occurring in late spring, is the only one of its kind in the WHS area and is not to be missed.

Newspaper Board

Some of the Spanish Club members discuss the best time for their next meeting with Mr. Mosley.

Spanish Club

With the demise of the Latin Club, the Spanish Club remained as Western High's only language club. Organized after Christmas (to make sure everybody got back from summer vacation before they began), this group of accomplished linguists saw films as a part of its program to bring Spanish cultures closer to our own. Senor Mosley is the "Jefe" (sponsor) of the club; Mimi Kretzschmar is President; Betty Fritz is Secretary; and Cheryl Bryan handles the money.

Tri-Mu

Tri-Mu, Western's own Association for the Evaluation and Criticism of Literary Works, was a very active group despite its diminutive size. Members of this organization, which was and is open to all Western High students, selected various polemic books for reading and discussing. The talks took place informally in the home of a member under the sponsorship of Mrs. Haines and were held approximately every 3 weeks (which says something for the reading capabilities of the members). After the discussion leader had begun each meeting with a brief outline of the selected book or a sketch of the author's background, the group either discussed the book or tried to find out what "Tri-Mu" meant. Each meeting was observed by an extra-curricular study group of University students under the direction of Mrs. Agnita Kuo.

Student Council

Yes, Friends, this was the group you elected to represent you as the all-powerful Student Council, a progressive organization which could barely sit long enough to have its picture taken. It presented a revised school constitution to the student body, gave birth to a new school newspaper, and again organized the homecoming festivities. Officers (members of the Reformation Party) are Bob Schwartz, president; Rori Ricci, vice-president; Natalie Powell, secretary; Dave Swain, treasurer.

Student Librarians

If you have ever found yourself bewildered by the intmensity of the LRC (Learning Resources Center) in your quest for the right book, you have probably turned to a member of Western's SLC (Student Librarian Corps) for guidance. Each member of this crack outfit is briefed in his/her Dewey Decimals, knows how to check in and shelve books and periodicals and is capable of helping the wayward reader to find the book he wants. The group also participates in the regional and state student librarian organizations whenever possible.

Thespians

Western's Twirlers must keep themselves at the peak of performance—if they should drop their batons and stop to pick them up, they would be trampled by the band. This year, only 3 girls chose to face the dangers of high school baton twirling and the hours of practice that go with it.

Baritone Saxophonist Bill Bowlus performs with the Western Pep Band.

Twirlers

Twirlers, Connie Davis, Karen Martin, Jean Ann Wilde, Dr. Sibbing, adviser.

Band

Though the homecoming drilling for the half-time show and parade may have seemed to band members like a repeat of Sherman's March to the Sea, the remainder of the year was relatively restful (as everyone was allowed to sit while practicing). Even then, Dr. Sibbing's 58 instrumentalists had concerts to perform, music to sight-read, and contests to win. The Pep Band even found itself playing at basketball games! Thus, this stalwart group had eighth notes on the mind as well as callouses on the feet.

This year's orchestra concerts sounded better than ever, possibly because they were held in a theater and not a gymnasium. Another advantage of the school's change in locale was the opportunity to catalogue orchestra music as it was placed on the shelves. Mrs. Carey, the director, then made it possible for the group to select its own music (through a vehicle known, appropriately, as the Music Selection Committee). This music was sight-read in rehearsal and, in some cases, played in concert. Other activities included a spring concert tour, contests, and programs.

Orchestra

Chorus, Front row: Brad Johnson, Mike Ritter, Dana Findley, Morris, Karen Maag, Kathy Brown, Kathy Raymond, Barb Bunch, Marilyn Simpson, Kathy Nicholson, Dana Findley; Back row: Tom Foster, Randy Hoyle, Joy Johnson, Judy Hardin, Signe Sather, Kris Shanks, Mary Hull, Jan Gabler; Row 3: Kevin Anita Larson, Janet Wenzell, Carolyn Johnson, Judy Riggins.

The 70-member high school chorus read through much music during the year despite the small amount of allotted time and the blare of trumpets from the next room. Mrs. Emme, the choir director, advised the various ensembles and solos for contest, including the Westernaires. The crowded chorus calendar included the spring tour and the Christmas and spring concerts.

Chorus

Chorus, Front row: Patty Joyce, Christy Carnahan, Janet Morgan, Karen Nielsen, Diana Dorethy, Valerie Plus, Richard Hardin, Mitch Elliott, Rusty Hodges; Row 2: Beth Rush, Holly Crane, Jan Rimbey, Becky Brown, Linda Bowlus, Alan Ferguson, Scott Loomer, Steve Monger, Tom Stipanowich; Row 3: Kay Severinsen, Sue Schwartz, Kim Cunningham, Fred Bugg, Jim Gingerich, Steve Julstrom, Bob Adams, Chuck Gould, Mrs. Emme, director; Back row: Kris Kowal, Rori Ricci, Sandy Wright, Lowell Harper, Pat Pollard, Bill Bowlus, Mike Maag, Randy Bernhard.

Westernaires

Music Officers

orchestra; Back Row: Ted Pawlias, orchestra; Kris Shanks, chorus; David Swain, band; Tom Stipanowich, orchestra; Tom Foster, chorus; Trish Speer, chorus.

Elementary Orchestra

Every morning from 8-8:30, sounds from the beginning violinists start to drift from the music room. These third and fourth graders are involved in the University of Illinois String Research Project under the direction of Mr. Paul Roland. Mrs. Tanya Carey is the local project head with assistance from Miss Nancy Leo. The project is concerned with a lack of tension in the playing of stringed instruments and exploration of movement.

As a sub-project, American composers were asked to write music pieces for beginners. It is also used for pre-publication testing of a book Sight Reading for Strings by Tanya Carey and Adam P. Lesinski.

Records and movies on string playing were used to teach playing technique. The group performed in the spring and Christmas concerts and attended the American String Teachers Association meeting in March.

Beginning Strings

Dr. Hahn joins wholeheartedly into the students' skit, even if the laughs are at his expense.

Making their debut, the distinguished navel band whistles a merry tune to brighten the Pep Rally.

Igniting the spirit of Western's Homecoming was the bonfire this year held at the Cunningham farm.

Coach Ray Hanson, a traditional guest speaker at the Pep Assembly, added more fuel to the spirit fire. The flames continued to build with the speeches of Dr. Hahn, Dean Abel, Dr. Bernhard, Coach Hepinstall, and Mr. Gary Scherer, who represented the Class of 1959.

The fire's intensity grew as the students traveled into the gym for the Pep Rally. Skits and cheers of the student body added to the blaze.

The spirit fire burned brightly at the Homecoming game that night. The flame dimmed as the Cardinals were defeated by Knoxville, 13 to 6.

"We're loyal to you, Western High. . .one, two, three, four. . ." Cardinal band strikes a couple of pear-shaped tones.

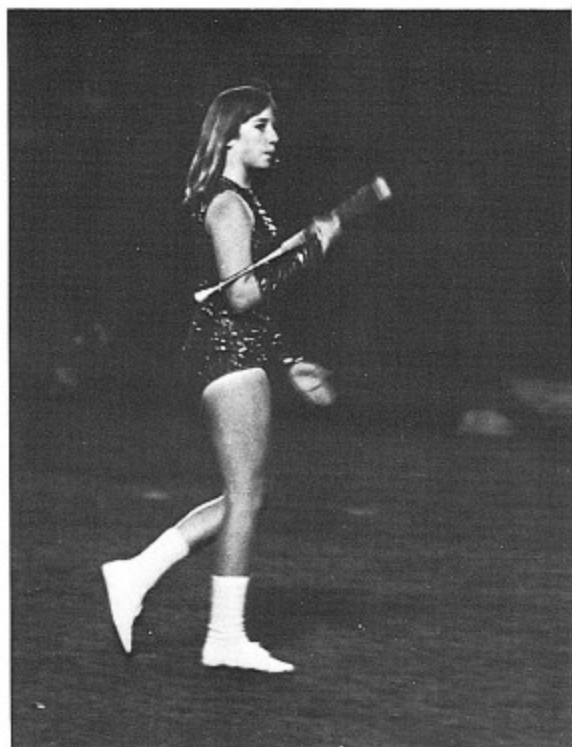

Western High students turn out en masse for the Homecoming Pep Rally.

Homecoming Sparks Fly at Western

Kris Shanks and Trish Speer know that boosting Western's spirit is exhausting.

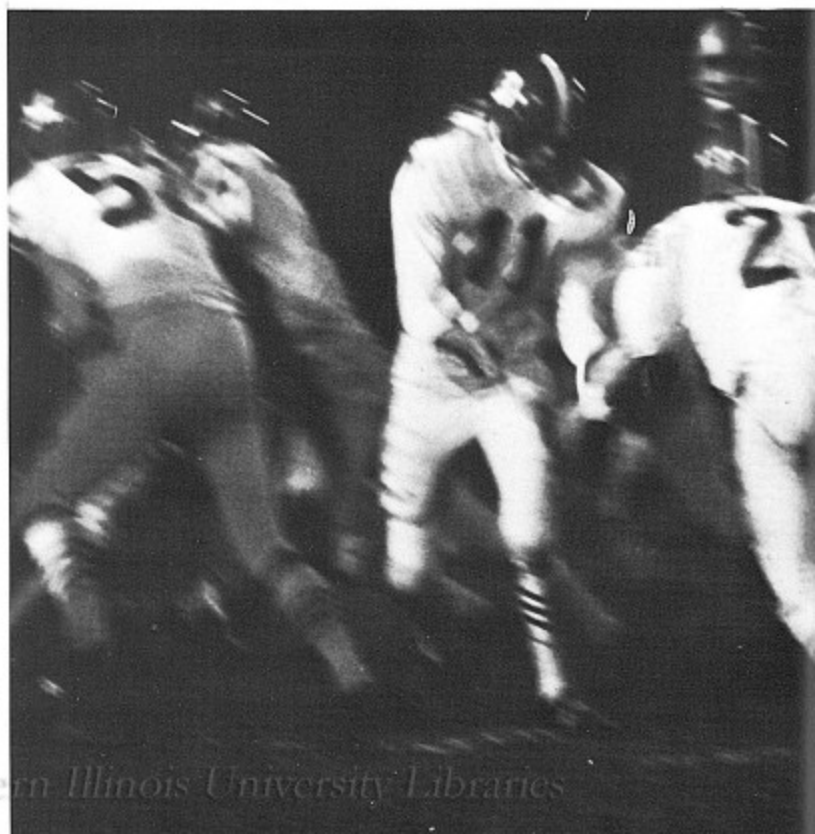

Western's twirlers add spark to Homecoming half-time.

Fading embers were rekindled early Saturday morning with the dance preparations. Under the guidance of Janet Morgan, dance chairman, the students decorated the gym with red, yellow, and orange streamers to carry out the theme of "Satanic Glory."

The fire blazed brightest at the Homecoming dance that night with the coronation of Queen Kim Cunningham and King Stan Abbot attended by their court: Kristi Sather and Mike Robinson, Kathy Simpson and John Riggins, and Trish Speer and Jeff Plue. Although the dance soon came to an end, each couple was left with a lingering glow of Homecoming 1968.

Western Homecoming Glows On

Football players cut loose with Cardinal power.

Students chose Stan Abbot and Kim Cunningham to reign as Homecoming King and Queen. Members of their court included:

Mike Robinson and Kristi Sather,

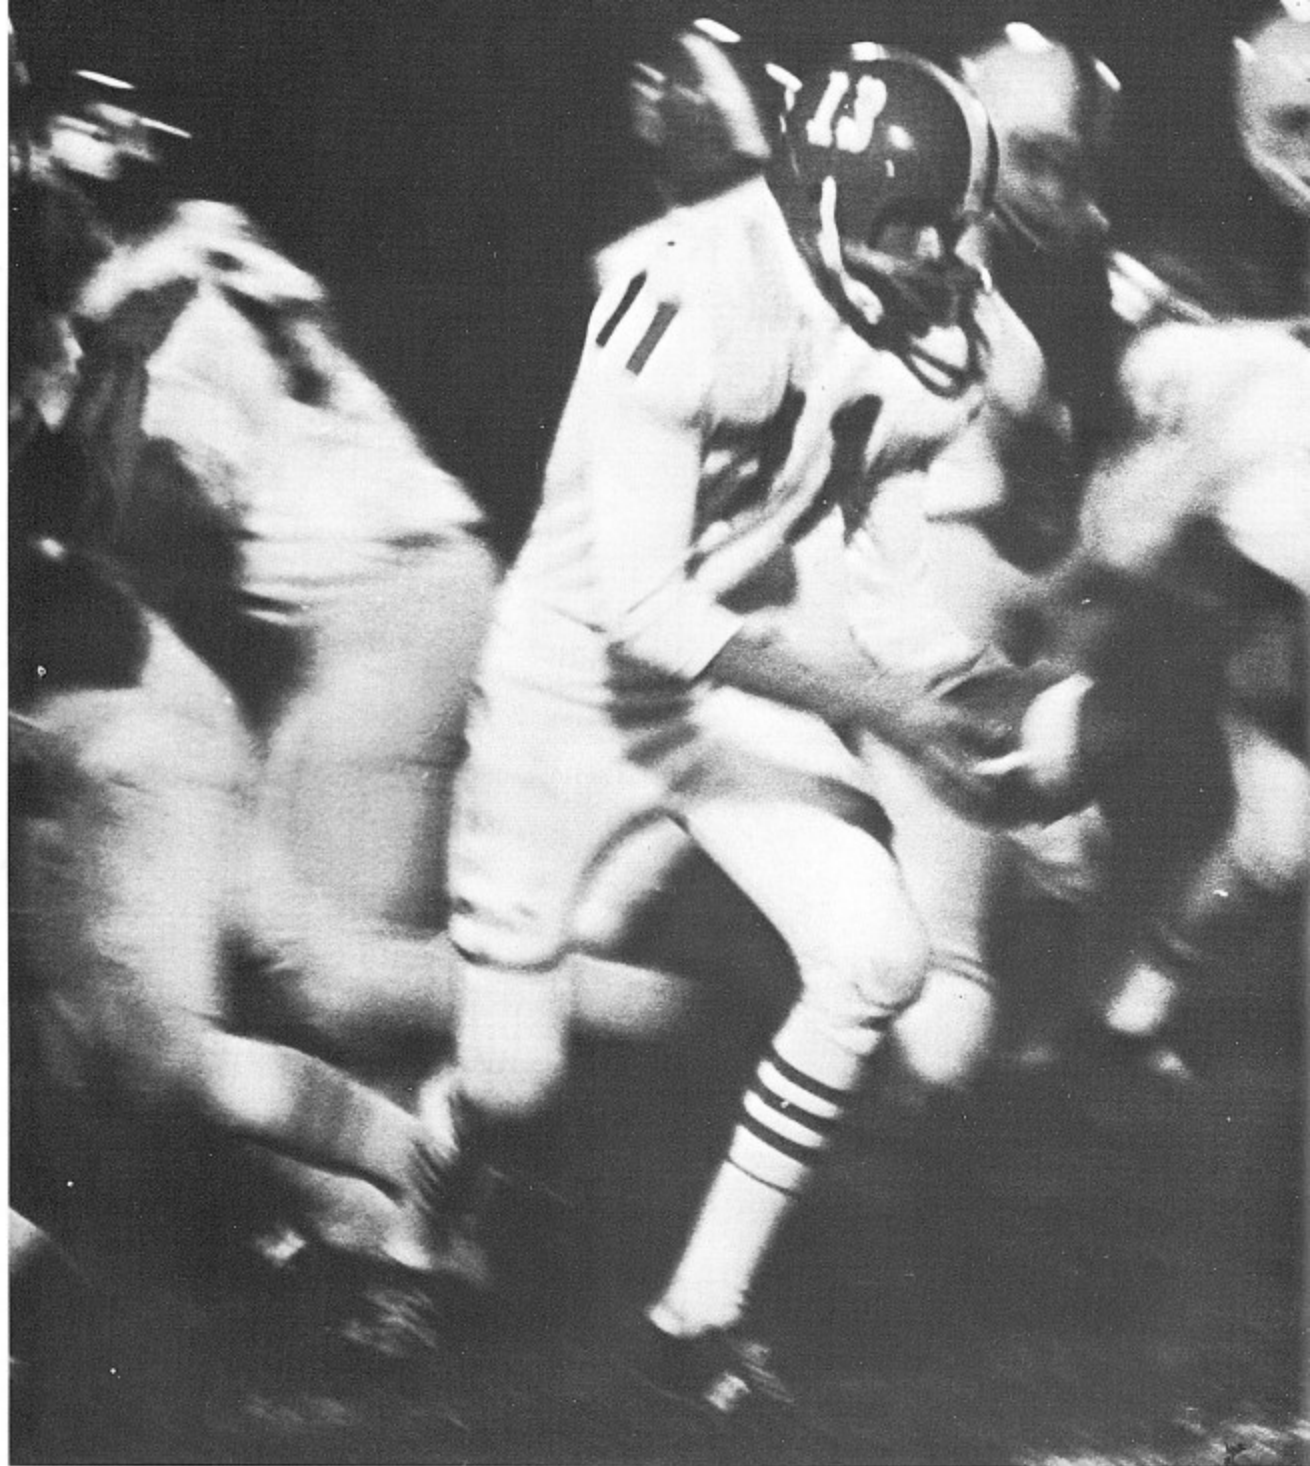

John Riggins and Kathy Simpson,

Jeff Plue and Trish Speer.

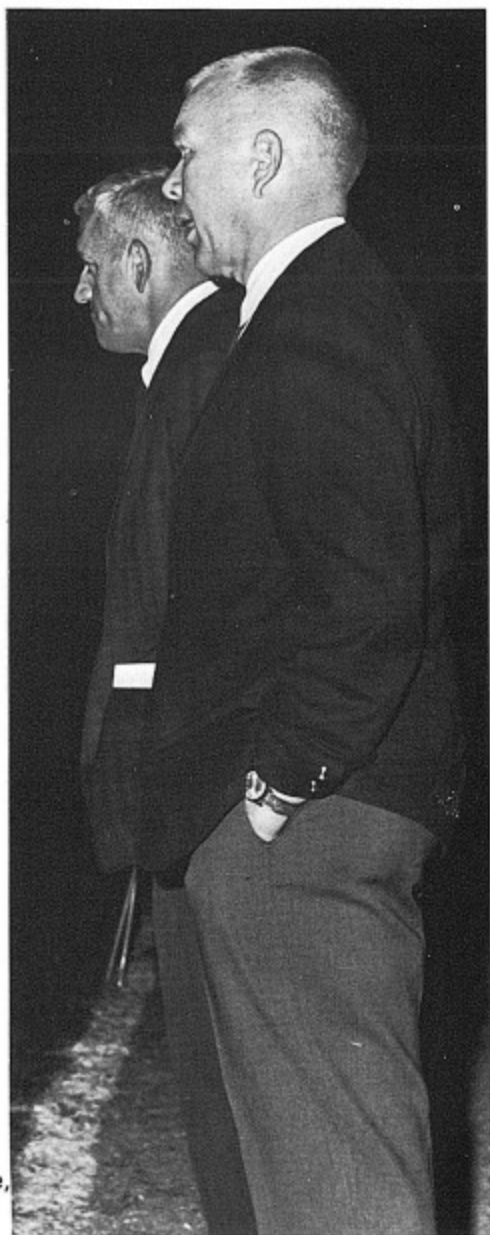

Rushing and blocking spell triumph for this year's Western High Cardinals.

Western High Cardinals Surge Ahead

Western High Cardinals flew high during the 1968 season. Coached by Jack Hepinstall, the Cards managed to capture 5 out of 9 games. Termed inexperienced by several of the Western High followers, the team proved that teamwork and hard work can overcome any obstacle. One difficulty the team next year will have to overcome is the loss of 11 seniors. However, they shouldn't despair, remembering the 30 freshmen who will be joining the ranks.

Coaches Karas and Hepinstall stand side-by-side, ready to advise the Cardinals.

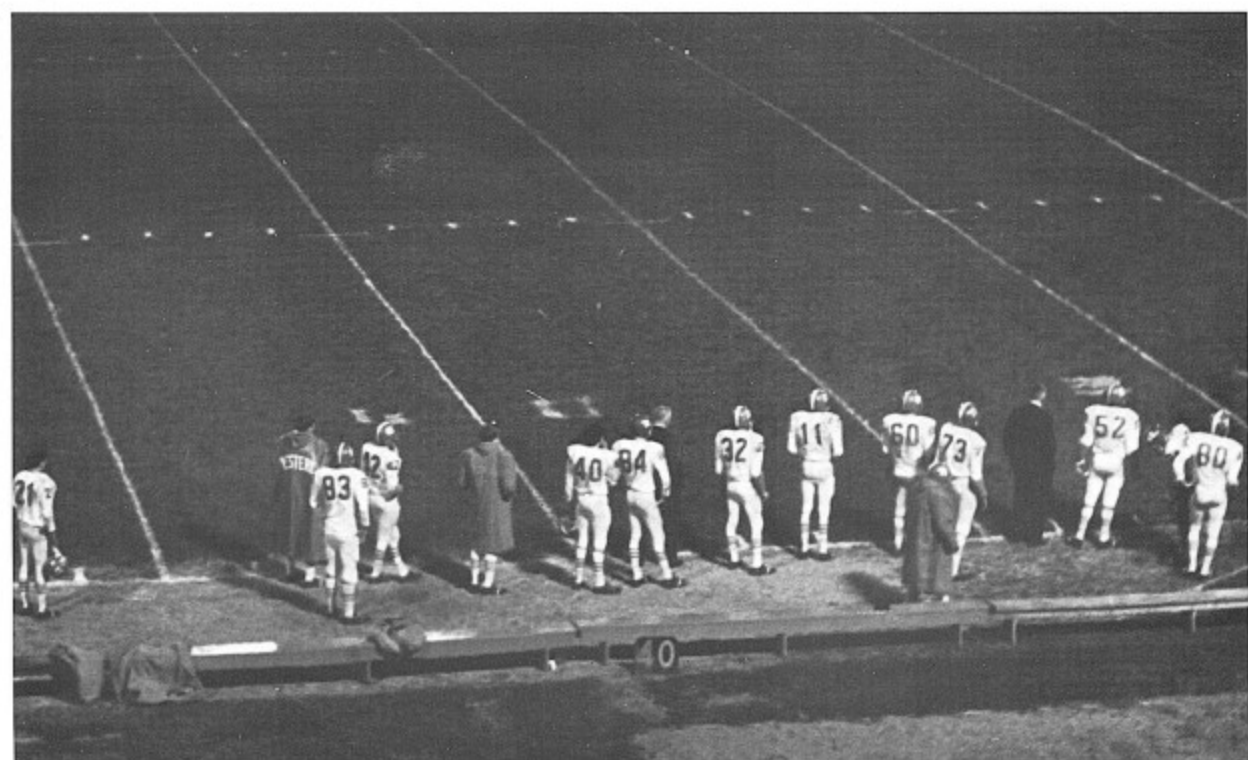

Mike Robinson was chosen Most Valuable Player. Phil Davenport was selected as Most Improved Player.

Western High linemen Dave Nissen and Bob Schwartz grimace after an obstructed play.

Football Season Shows Rapid Improvement

Standing at the line of play, watching the game just rolling away. Not really, for victory was soon in sight.

Like an over-protective shadow Brian Abel blocks for Dean Watson.

Cardinals Capture 5 out of 9

Rick Shryock pauses before his return to the field.

Eluding his opponents, Stan Abbot sends the ball up and in for two points.

Struggle between Western and Bushnell Junior Varsity players puts ball "up for grabs."

Cardinals Fire Up!

Coached by Paul Sorensen the Western High Cardinals traveled as far south as Springfield and as far north as Genoa-Kingston. They played a total of 26 games; 14 were on the road.

The Cardinals will be losing 3 seniors: Stan Abbot, John Barclay, and Lewis Marx. They will have 4 returning lettermen.

It was a long season for the Cards, but considerable experience was gained. The trip to Genoa-Kingston is a good example. After a hard fought basketball game Western challenged Genoa-Kingston to a "stiff" game of pool. The afternoons at the Cue must have paid off because the Cards returned victorious.

Cards are uptight about pending situation.

Junior Brian Abel leaps into action.

Unfortunately, the scores of the Junior Varsity games were not ready for print. It seems that during the Genoa-Kingston game the score book was lost. Obviously, someone must have misplaced it in their search for a good time. The Junior Varsity had a season to remember. Coached by Jack Hepinstall, they ended with a 11-7 record.

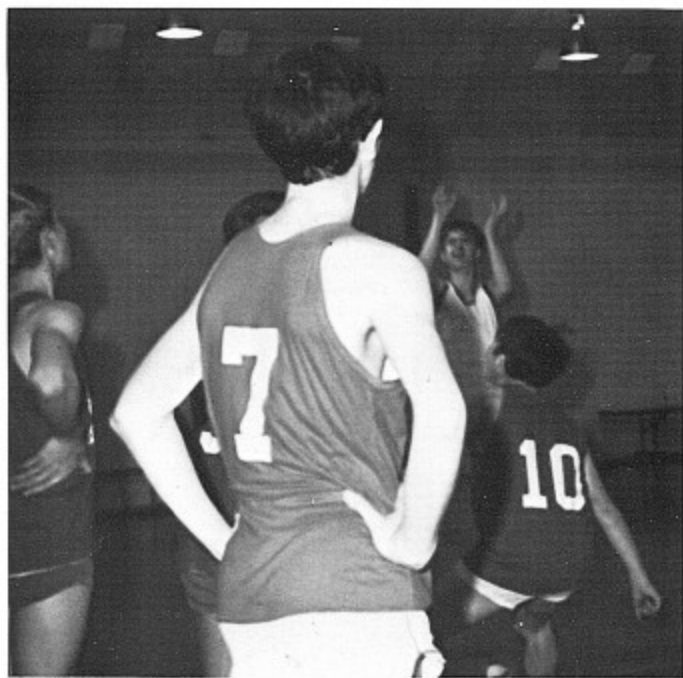

Coach Sorenson takes part in daily practice.

Using the new diving board as an observation perch, Coach Davis supervises the team work-out.

The swimming team of Western started a brand new season with a loss, but this was expected. What wasn't expected was their record at the end of the season. The swim team ended with a 4-9 record. For a first year team with a new coach this record is something to be proud of.

Chuck Hutinger was chosen Most Valuable Swimmer by his teammates and Jim Grimm was chosen Most Improved Swimmer. Chuck went to the District meet and then on to the State meet.

The seniors leaving the team are Mike Robinson, Rick Shryock, Tom Adams, and Jerry Morgan.

Cheerleaders direct enthusiasm of the crowd.

"We've got spirit" applies to the 1968-69 cheerleaders. A 1-day workshop at the University of Illinois added to the skill of the varsity cheerleaders. They had a busy year. Besides cheering for football and basketball games, the cheerleaders attended home meets of the swimming team. It was not unusual to see a dripping cheerleader emerge from the pool after a meet.

During the basketball games, the cheerleaders were seldom seen at half-time. They had retired to the faculty lounge where they had cookies and cokes for the visiting cheerleaders and a place to rest their tired legs.

Cheerleaders Sport Pep

Dr. Hahn is the man with all the problems—new problems on top of the old, a new school and a new system. He has the recognition of being the Director and the headaches to go along with it. In spite of his busy schedule, he always has time to listen to the complaints and praises of the students. As the restroom signs are repainted and the lunch line battle straightens, Dr. Hahn continues to build Western Laboratory School.

Epilogue Discovers a Unique Faculty

According to the responses to an Epilogue questionnaire presented to the faculty, the Western Laboratory School teacher is one of the most versatile, clever and puzzling creatures in this part of the country. These qualities not only come in both sexes but can be found almost anywhere in or out of any activity.

As a student (an early embryological stage), the teacher was one-fourth of a Barbershop Quartet, a football player still waiting on the bench, a cellist who hated to practice, or a scholar whose outstanding achievement was successful completion of high school. Our teacher was not always a soldier, but an Air Force Captain, a Demolition Sergeant with the Corps of Engineers, a WAC, a Marine Corporal, a WAVE lieutenant, or a Private who won his Purple Heart by sitting on a potato peeler.

When the teacher at last became a teacher, he was blessed with the qualities which he believes all good teachers should possess: friendship, patience, good humor (not the ice cream), knowledge and "telling it like it is." But, above all, whether a glockenspielist in a German Band or an Air Ace in the Flying Circus, the teacher is a necessity to the school system.

Dr. Hamilton, as other faculty, enjoys his work at Western's games.

Jim Burke, John Graham and Jeff Plue admire the work of a great unknown.

Cheerleader's paraphernalia is close at hand for a long night of enthusiastic cheering.

The 1968-69 school year was a year of discovery. A new building with many innovations awaited each student as he began school September 5. He found himself in an environment of familiar faces but new surroundings. The year was a time of adjusting to the new but of retaining part of the old. It was a time of learning as well as discovering.

The 1968-69 Epilogue has tried with pictures and words to convey that feeling of discovery. There would be no Epilogue if it were not for every member of the staff. Special credit is due Lea Losasso, Lois Krong, Darlos Mummert, Maura Boyle, Kristi Sather, Larry Carr, Barbara Bunch, Luanne Sanner, Janet Nell, and Tom Stipanowich.

The staff appreciates the help of the Western Illinois University Photography Laboratory, the University Press, the Tarleton Studios, and the American Yearbook Company for their assistance in the completion of the 1969 Epilogue.

Sincerely,

Betty Fritz
