ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First, I would like to thank my committee; Dr. A. Gilbert Belles, Dr. Larry Balsamo, and Dr. Charles O'Brien for their helpful assistance and Dr. John Werner for his substitution for Dr. O'Brien in the review. A special thanks to University Archivist, Gordana Rezab, for her supervision of my work.

Second, I am forever grateful to the Archives staff of Marla Vizdal and Jayne Sappington for their helpful suggestions, confidence, and never ending support. Now that my project is complete, I will leave them in peace and promise never to ask for another stapler, folder, or time on the xerox machine. I also must thank "Jonathan" and his trainers for teaching me the wonders of computers and making my task much easier.

Last, but by no means least, I thank my family and friends for making me laugh and helping me realize that patience is truly a virtue.

PROJECT REPORT

On December 1, 1983, former Congressman of the 19th District of Illinois, Thomas F. Railsback dedicated his congressional papers to Western Illinois University. By this date all of his papers had been delivered to the University, were housed in the Archives, and were being processed for public use. The formal presentation took place on April 2, 1977, at which time an agreement had been signed by Railsback and the University as to the use and restrictions of his papers. The Gift Agreement Addendum stipulated that all the materials in the collection be made available for public examination with a condition placed on the confidentiality of the correspondence. This confidentiality would not be broken unless the consent of the writer was obtained.

During his congressional career (1966-1982), Railsback served on the House Judiciary Committee. As a member of this Committee, he was concerned with such issues as the revision of the criminal code, parole reform, death penalty legislation, and copyright revisions. The most important event placed before Railsback and the Committee was the impeachment of President Richard Nixon.

Included in the Railsback collection were the documents, personal notes, news releases, newspaper articles, memorandums, and other assorted items pertaining to the impeachment decision. As a graduate student in the Department of History and an intern in the Archives, I have processed and indexed the material dealing with the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment decision in the 1974 congressional year.

On June 28, 1983, I was given permission by Tom Railsback to work with his impeachment files. I began by extracting these files from over fifty boxes of material included in the 1974 congressional year. The result was fourteen boxes of material which by the end of the project would be reduced to eight. A standard archival practice, gaining intellectual and physical control of the material, was used as my guideline. A preliminary inventory of the contents of the fourteen boxes was the basis of the intellectual control until the index could be completed. The titles of the books and folders along with their contents were written on 3 x 5 index cards so the materials could be quickly identified and located. The physical control could be dealt with once the immediate intellectual control was mastered.

The physical control included the processing or the actual manipulation of the materials. Processing began by removing all papers clips, rubber bands, or tape and replacing them with rustproof staples. If the paper was of newspaper quality or paper that would disintegrate rapidly, the documents were photocopied onto acid free paper. Letters from Railsback's constituents were organized in a standard archival manner by stapling together the letter and Railsback's reply with the reply on top. Then the letters were filed chronologically with the most recent date on top. To reduce bulk, approximately nine hundred impeachment coupons sent by Railsback's constituents were photocopied several to a sheet and the coupons discarded. The letters were sorted into nonacidic folders labelled in- or out-of-district and pro- or anti-impeachment. Due to the confidentiality stipulation in the agreement between Railsback and the University, these letters are unavailable to the public unless given permission by the University Archivist, Gordana Rezab.

The provenance of the materials previously placed in folders by Railsback's office staff was regarded. Duplicate items were destroyed to reduce bulk. Then the contents of the folders was organized in either a chronological or numerical order which was determined by the original order given by Railsback's office. All these materials were placed in nonacidic folders and arranged alphabetically in archival boxes labelled as to the contents.

The final task of the project was the production of the index; the completion of the intellectual control. The index was not of a routine nature because of the kind of material contained in this collection. The three main components, books, correspondence, and folders were indexed in a different manner. The books were indexed alphabetically as in a standard bibliography. No specific index was given to the correspondence. Instead the letters were filed in chronological order, in- and out-of-district and letters favoring impeachment of President Nixon and those opposed. The folders were indexed alphabetically by subject title and included a descriptive inventory of the contents of each. Cross references regarding relevant topics are encompassed in this segment of the index. A glossary of key people connected with impeachment was included in this portion of the project for reference. The impeachment files contained in the Railsback collection are processed, indexed, and ready to be used. These files are very useful to people interested in impeachment and Railsback's role in the process. The index will help researchers locate the primary source material needed for their inquiry into the impeachment subject.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The impeachment of a United States President is a process rarely deliberated by Representatives, Senators, and especially the American people. Not since the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, 106 years prior to the attempt to impeach President Richard Nixon, had such a consideration moved so far. When Thomas F. Railsback, Representative of the 19th District of Illinois, was sworn into office in 1966, the idea of impeachment never entered his mind; but by 1974, he would become a prominent figure in such a decision.

Tom Railsback was born January 22, 1932 in Moline, Illinois where he was to remain the majority of his early life. In 1954, with a major in English, he graduated from Grinnell College, Iowa. He earned his law degree in 1957 from Northwestern University. After serving two years in the United States Army in the Legal Assistance Office, Railsback returned to Moline in 1959 to form a law partnership with his father. After marrying Patricia Sloan, he had four daughters: Kathryn, Margaret Ann, Julia, and Lisa.

Railsback was elected to the Illinois Legislature in 1962, then to the United States Congress in 1966. He represented the 19th District, a rural/industrial area located in the north-central portion of Illinois. He was appointed to the House Judiciary Committee his first year in Congress and was the only freshman invited to join a society of promising young Republicans called the Chowder and Marching Society. Railsback was considered the most liberal Republican on the House Judiciary Committee.<sup>1</sup>

As a member of the House Judiciary Committee, Railsback dealt with such legislation as the revision of the criminal code, parole reform, death penalty legislation, and copyright revisions.<sup>2</sup> Another responsibility extended to the Committee by the House of Representatives was the investigation of impeachment charges.

The Constitution of the United States in Article I, Section 2, Clause 5, states that "the House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment."<sup>3</sup> Traditionally, the House of Representatives introduced the resolutions then referred the investigation to an appointed or a standing committee in the House.<sup>4</sup> In recent years such a responsibility was referred to the House Judiciary Committee.

The Committee's function during the impeachment decision for Nixon was to research the alleged accusations made against the President and report the results to the House of Representatives. It was the House Judiciary Committee's responsibility to agree upon the articles of impeachment, submit them to the House for debate, and the final vote for or against. If Nixon had not resigned his office on August 8, 1974, the following would have occurred. A committee selected by the House, called "managers" would have been appointed to prosecute the case before the Senate with the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court presiding over the trial. The President would then be removed from office if found guilty by the Senate.<sup>5</sup>

To aid the House Judiciary Committee, funds were appropriated for the creation of an Impeachment Inquiry Staff which was to collect the facts and legal advice but was not to decide upon impeachment.<sup>6</sup> The Impeachment Inquiry Staff consisted of over one hundred people which included counsels, investigators, research assistants, clerks, secretaries, public information directors, congressional liaisons, security directors, and administrators.<sup>7</sup> John Doar, representing the Democrats and Albert Jenner the Republicans, were placed in charge of the entire staff and dealt directly with the House Judiciary Committee.

As the investigation proceeded, six categories were developed: domestic surveillance, campaign intelligence, Watergate and the aftermath, personal finances, agency practices, and other Presidential conduct with a file extending into constitutional and legal issues. Railsback was appointed to the third subcommittee, dealing with the Watergate events from the 16th through the 22nd of March.<sup>8</sup> The Impeachment Inquiry Staff researched these areas, prepared indexes, and gathered information which was presented to the House Judiciary Committee.<sup>9</sup>

As the Impeachment Inquiry Staff investigated the impeachment charges, the House of Representatives drafted House Resolution 803, known as the impeachment resolution. On February 6, 1974, the House voted 410 to 4 in support of the bill. House Resolution 803 authorized the House Judiciary Committee to investigate fully and completely whether sufficient grounds exist for the House of Representatives to exercise its constitutional power to impeach Richard M. Nixon, President of the United States of America. The Committee shall report to the House of Representatives such resolutions, articles of impeachment, or other recommendations as it deems proper.<sup>10</sup>

As presented to the House the day the bill was passed, Railsback voted in favor of House Resolution 803 and regarded it as a step forward.<sup>11</sup> Realizing the American people were tiring with the many setbacks and long deliberations occurring with the impeachment issue, passing the bill would add to any progress already made. Now with the approval of the resolution, the wheels of impeachment were officially put in motion.

The presentation of the material researched for the House Judiciary Committee by the Impeachment Inquiry Staff took place during the evidentiary hearings beginning on May 9 and lasting ten weeks. A vote was taken as to whether the hearings should be televised, as the debates would be, but was defeated. The belief was that if the hearings were televised, the defendant's rights might be violated and there was the need for the material to be kept confidential until after the jury was sequestered for the "Plumbers" case after June 17.<sup>12</sup>

In the ten weeks that followed, the House Judiciary Committee read one thousand pages of documentary evidence, personally questioned nine key witnesses, and listened to nineteen tape recordings. In all, the printed record covered more than ten thousand pages.<sup>13</sup> Special Counsel Doar and Minority Counsel Jenner summarized the events, being careful not to show any bias for it was up to the members of the House Judiciary Committee to decide on the impeachment charges themselves. No conclusions or recommendations were given.<sup>14</sup> Finally, at the closing of his summary, Doar, forced by Chairman Peter Rodino, made a subjective statement as to the outcome of the hearing. The reason for such a statement was to influence the swing votes into a decision for impeachment.<sup>15</sup>

Railsback was considered one of the seven swing votes in the House Judiciary Committee. It was believed that Railsback, defined as "genuinely conscience stricken," could carry two to four other Republican votes with him in his vote.<sup>16</sup> This was the beginning of the "fragile bipartisan coalition."

Seven members of the Judiciary Committee, both Republican and Democrat, were undecided as to their vote. On July 22, prior to the debate, Walter Flowers, Democrat from Alabama, approached Railsback to suggest that the undecided votes meet and discuss what would happen. The next day Flowers, James Mann of South Carolina, and Ray Thornton of Arkansas met with Railsback, M. Caldwell Butler of Virginia, Hamilton Fish, Jr. of New York, and William Cohen of Maine in Railsback's office. Each expressed their views and agreed universally upon three concerns for impeachment: abuse of power, misuse of government agencies, and the Watergate cover-up. The coalition, feeling the articles of impeachment previously drafted were too general, would sketch their own. This article would become the first Article of Impeachment.<sup>17</sup>

On July 24, 1974, in Room 2141 of the Rayburn House Office Building, the House Judiciary Committee's debate began, ending a seven month investigation. Each of the thirty-eight members were allowed a fifteen minute opening statement after which the Articles of Impeachment were introduced one at a time. Revisions on the articles were disputed with each member granted five minutes for the debate. The vote was taken and the articles approved or rejected.<sup>18</sup>

Railsback, in his opening statement, listed dates and events of Watergate, charges against Nixon, and the actions that bothered him. After being assigned two minutes of William Hungate's (Democrat of Missouri) time, Railsback closed by stating

Some of my people say that the country cannot afford to impeach a President. Let me say that many of these are good supporters and friends. I have also spoken to countless others including many, many young people and if the young people in this country think that we are going to not handle this thing fairly, if we are not going to really try to get the truth, you are going to see the most frustrated people, the most turned off people, the most disillusioned people and it is going to make the period of LBJ look tame. So I hope that we just keep our eye on trying to get to the truth.<sup>19</sup>

With the opening statements read, the Articles of Impeachment were brought to a vote. On July 27, the obstruction of justice article with nine subparagraphs was approved twenty-seven to eleven. Railsback, joined by five other Republicans voted to ratify the article. The second article, abuse of power, was approved on July 29, twenty-eight to ten; Railsback voted aye. On July 30, the three remaining articles were voted on. Article III, dealing with the subject of subpoenas, was approved twenty-one to seventeen. Articles IV and V, the Cambodia issue and the taxes and emoluments, respectively, were rejected, both with a twelve to twenty-six vote. Railsback voted nay on the last three articles.<sup>20</sup> The role of the House Judiciary Committee was complete. (For Articles, See Appendix)

The final report brought before the House of Representatives was filed on August 20, 1974, eleven days after Nixon resigned his post bringing an end to the impeachment ordeal. If Nixon had not resigned, impeachment proceedings would have continued for the House approved the Resolution and Articles of Impeachment 412 to 3.<sup>21</sup> All the anguish caused to the Senate, Supreme Court, House of Representatives, House Judiciary Committee, the Impeachment Inquiry Staff, and the American people had been put to an end. Railsback after a long soul searching battle had proven worthy both to himself and to his constituents. He was to be reelected to his district until 1982 when he lost in the primaries to Ken McMillan. After his defeat, Railsback took a position as the Executive Vice President of the Motion Picture Association of America in New York.

APPENDIX

RESOLUTION AND ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT

RESOLUTION

Impeaching Richard M. Nixon, President of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors.

Resolved, That Richard M. Nixon, President of the United States, is impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors, and that the following article of impeachment be exhibited to the Senate:

Articles of impeachment exhibited by the House of Representatives of the United States of America in the name of itself and of all of the people of the United States of America, against Richard M. Nixon, President of the United States of America, in maintenance and support of its impeachment against him for high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE I

In his conduct of the office of President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon, in violation of his constitutional oath faithfully to execute the office of President of the United States and, to the best of his ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States, and in violation of his constitutional duty to take care that the laws be faithfully executed, has prevented, obstructed, and impeded the administration of justice, in that:

On June 17, 1972, and prior thereto, agents of the Committee for the Re-election of the President committed unlawful entry of the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in Washington, District of Columbia, for the purpose of securing political intelligence. Subsequent thereto, Richard M. Nixon, using the powers of his high office, engaged personally and through his subordinates and agents, in a course of conduct or plan designed to delay, impede, and obstruct the investigation of such unlawful entry; to cover up, conceal and protect those responsible; and to conceal the existence and scope of other unlawful covert activities.

The means used to implement this course of conduct or plan included one or more of the following:

(1) making or causing to be made false or misleading statements to lawfully authorized investigative officers and employees of the United States;

(2) withholding relevant and material evidence or information from lawfully authorized investigative officers and employees of the United States.

(3) approving, condoning, acquiescing in, and counseling witnesses with respect to the giving of false or misleading statements to lawfully authorized investigative officers and employees of the United States and false or misleading testimony in duly instituted judicial and congressional proceedings;

(4) interfering or endeavoring to interfere with the conduct of investigations by the Department of Justice of the United States, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Office of Watergate Special Prosecution Force, and Congressional Committees;

(5) approving, condoning, and acquiescing in the surreptitious payment of substantial sums of money for the purpose of obtaining the silence or influencing the testimony of witnesses, potential witnesses or individuals who participated in such unlawful entry and other illegal activities;

(6) endeavoring to misuse the Central Intelligence Agency, an agency of the United States;

(7) disseminating information received from officers to the Department of Justice of the United States to subjects of investigations conducted by lawfully authorized investigative officers and employees of the United States, for the purpose of aiding and assisting such subjects in their attempts to avoid criminal liability;

(8) making false or misleading public statements for the purpose of deceiving the people of the United States into believing that a thorough and complete investigation had been conducted with respect to allegations of misconduct on the part of personnel of the executive branch of the United States and personnel of the Committee for the Re-election of the President, and that there was no involvement of such personnel in such misconduct; or

(9) endeavoring to cause prospective defendants, and individuals duly tried and convicted, to expect favored treatment and consideration in return for their silence or false testimony; or rewarding individuals for their silence or false testimony.

In all of this, Richard M. Nixon has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as President and subversive of constitutional government, to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States.

Wherefore Richard M. Nixon, by such conduct warrants impeachment and trial, and removal from office.

ARTICLE II

Using the powers of the office of President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon, in violation of his constitutional oath faithfully to execute the office of President of the United States and, to the best of his ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States, and in disregard of his constitutional duty to take care that the laws be faithfully executed, has repeatedly engaged in conduct violating the constitutional rights of citizens, impairing the due and proper administration of justice and conduct of lawful inquiries, or contravening the laws governing agencies of the executive branch and the purposes of these agencies.

This conduct has included one or more of the following:

(1) He has, acting personally and through his subordinates and agents, endeavored to obtain from the Internal Revenue Service, in violation of the constitutional rights of citizens, confidential information contained in income tax returns for purposes not authorized by law, and to cause, in violation of the constitutional rights of citizens, income tax audits or other income tax investigations to be initiated or conducted in a discriminatory manner.

(2) He misused the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Secret Service, and other executive personnel, in violation or disregard of the constitutional rights of citizens, by directing or authorizing such agencies or personnel to conduct or continue electronic surveillance or other investigations for purposes unrelated to national security, the enforcement of laws, or any other lawful function of his office; he did direct, authorize, or permit the use of information obtained thereby for purposes unrelated to national security, the enforcement of laws, or any other lawful function of his office; and he did direct the concealment of certain records made by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of electronic surveillance.

(3) He has, acting personally and through his subordinates and agents, in violation or disregard of the constitutional rights of citizens, authorized and permitted to be maintained a secret investigative unit within the office of the President, financed in part with money derived from campaign contributions, which unlawfully utilized the resources of the Central Intelligence Agency, engaged in covert and unlawful activities, and attempted to prejudice the constitutional right of an accused to a fair trial.

(4) He has failed to take care that the laws were faithfully executed by failing to act when he knew or had reason to know that his close subordinates endeavored to impede and frustrate lawful inquiries by duly constituted executive, judicial, and legislative entities concerning the unlawful entry into the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee, and the cover-up thereof, and concerning other unlawful activities, including those relating to the confirmation of Richard Kleindienst as Attorney General of the United States, the electronic surveillance of private citizens, the break-in into the offices of Dr. Lewis Fielding, and the campaign financing practices of the Committee to Re-elect the President.

(5) In disregard of the rule of law, he knowingly misused the executive power by interfering with agencies of the executive branch, including the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Criminal Division, and the Office of Watergate Special Prosecution Force, of the Department of Justice, and the Central Intelligence Agency, in violation of his duty to take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

In all of this, Richard M. Nixon has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as President and subversive of constitutional government, to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States.

Wherefore Richard M. Nixon, by such conduct, warrants impeachment and trial, and removal from office.

ARTICLE III

In his conduct of the office of President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon, contrary to his oath faithfully to execute the office of President of the United States and, to the best of his ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States, and in violation of his constitutional duty to take care that the laws be faithfully executed, has failed without lawful cause or excuse to produce papers and things as directed by duly authorized subpoenas issued by the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives on April 11, 1974, May 15, 1974, May 30, 1974, and June 24, 1974, and willfully disobeyed such subpoenas. The subpoenaed papers and things were deemed necessary by the Committee in order to resolve by direct evidence fundamental, factual questions relating to Presidential direction, knowledge, or approval of actions demonstrated by other evidence to be substantial grounds for impeachment of the President. In refusing to produce these papers and things, Richard M. Nixon, substituting his judgment as to what materials were necessary for the inquiry, interposed the powers of the Presidency against the lawful subpoenas of the House of Representatives, thereby assuming to himself functions and judgments necessary to the exercise of the sole power of impeachment vested by the Constitution in the House of Representatives.

In all of this, Richard M. Nixon has acted in a manner contrary to this trust as President and subversive of constitutional government, to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice, and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States.

ARTICLE IV (UNAPPROVED)

In his conduct of his office of President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon, in violation of his constitutional oath faithfully to execute the office of President of the United States, and in disregard of his constitutional duty to take care that the laws be faithfully executed, on and subsequent to March 17, 1969, authorized, ordered, and ratified the concealment from the Congress of the facts and the submission to the Congress of false and misleading statements concerning the existence, scope and nature of American bombing operations in Cambodia in derogation of the power of the Congress to declare war, to make appropriations and to raise and support armies, and by such conduct warrants impeachment and trial and removal from office.

ARTICLE V (UNAPPROVED)

In his conduct of the office of President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon, in violation of his constitutional oath faithfully to execute the office of the President of the United States, and, to the best of his ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and in violation of his constitutional duty to take care that the laws be faithfully executed, did receive emoluments from the United States in excess of the compensation provided by law pursuant to Article II, Section I, Clause 7 of the Constitution, and did willfully attempt to evade the payment of a portion of Federal income taxes due and owing by him for the years 1969, 1970, 1971, 1972, in that:

(1) He, during the period for which he has been elected President, unlawfully received compensation in the form of government expenditures at and on his privately-owned properties located in or near San Clemente, California, and Key Biscayne, Florida.

(2) He knowingly and fraudulently failed to report certain income and claimed deductions in the year 1969, 1970, 1971, and 1972 on his Federal income tax returns which were not authorized by law, including deductions for a gift of papers to the United States valued at approximately $576,000.<sup>23</sup>

DESCRIPTION OF THE COLLECTION

Railsback, Thomas F. (1932- ) Congressional Papers, 1969-1970, 91st Congress.
713 folders, 27 boxes, 33.75 linear shelf feet.

Mr. Railsback's Congressional papers consist of four classes of files accumulated during his second term of representing the 19th Illinois Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives. The files are arranged in the following order: General Files, Military Files, Legislative Files, and Department Files. The material in each folder covers 1969 and 1970. If specific correspondence began in years prior to 1969 and ended in 1969 or 1970, then all correspondence is contained on the subject (regardless of the year). The folders contain letters, pamphlets, Congressional bills, pictures, newspaper clippings, speeches, news releases, transcripts, post cards, office memorandums, petitions, lists, folders, calendars, guest registers, booklets, manuals, reports, and envelopes.

The General Files contain 368 folders in 12 boxes. They include a carbon copy of all letters sent by Railsback (arranged alphabetically) in folders entitled "Miscellaneous Correspondence." Complete files for each correspondent are found elsewhere in the Military, General, Legislative, and Department Files. Of particular interest are the folders dealing with the 1969 Presidential Inauguration, speeches given by Railsback, and questionnaire comments on current issues (i.e. the proposed lowering of the voting age to 18 years old, the U.S. space program, the Vietnam War). The folders are arranged alphabetically by folder title. Some folders contain material arranged alphabetically and others contain materials arranged chronologically.

The Military Files contain 55 folders in three boxes. They include correspondence involving personal problems (i.e. requests for help in getting discharges, induction postponements, reassignments, pay settlements) with the U.S. Army, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Navy. The folders are arranged alphabetically by the name of the branches of the military. The correspondence for each branch is arranged alphabetically.

The Legislative Files contain 133 folders in six boxes. Correspondence regards comments about Congressional legislation (past and pending). Included are copies of several Congressional bills. Of particular interest are the folders concerning the Vietnam War, the Pueblo incident, college campus unrest, the Arab-Israeli conflict, crime, the seating of U.S. Representative Adam Clayton Powell, the proposed impeachment of U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, prayer in spacecrafts, the proposed lowering of the voting age to 18 years old, and the 1970 census. The folders are arranged alphabetically by the names of the U.S. House committees. At the end of the Legislative Files are General and Illinois State Legislation folders.

The Department Files contain 157 folders in eight boxes. They include information from and about various federal agencies, bureaus, departments, offices, commissions, administrations, boards, services, and foundations. Most of the correspondence deals with constituent casework. The folders are arranged alphabetically by the name of the various administrations, agencies, etc.. Appendix A lists these where they belong within the executive, judicial, and legislative branches.
